Internal Turmoil in SMJC

By JOHN HORGAN

The San Mateo Junior College District is in a state of internal turmoil.

For weeks after the successful March 2 tax election victory, visible signs of strife and discontent have been surfacing with increasing regularity.

All the symptoms of a grave leadership crisis in the district are there for anyone to examine.

—Two of the three schools still have had no presidents named for the coming school year.

—Four of the top administrators at the College of San Mateo have resigned their positions and gone elsewhere for employment in the educational field.

—The Chancellor of the district, Clifford Erickson, has received a vote of no confidence from the faculty at the College of San Mateo.

—The public attitude of the members of the Board of Trustees of the district towards the Chancellor has become noticeably more curt. Their private dissatisfaction has occasionally boiled over into some bitter remarks directed at the Chancellor during public meetings in recent weeks, especially concerning the matter of administrative responsibility.

—Representatives of the faculties at the three college campuses have lately become more and more aggressive and disenchanted with their administrative leadership.

—Rumors of a serious conflict between Chancellor Erickson and his Business Manager, Matteo Fasanaro, have been persistent, despite denials by both sides.

The latest in a series of morale-hampering repercussions stemming from that March 2 election has been the Chancellor's proposal to cut administrative costs by just under 15 per cent.

The pledge to cut administrative costs was made during the campaign by members of the board and by officials of the administration itself.

It has been the Chancellor's task to come up with those cuts. The results of his weeks of study were revealed this past Wednesday night and they were revealing.

Erickson has proposed to fire only two full-time people. They are public relations officials at Canada and CSM. Their combined salaries total almost $26,000. The other full-time positions scheduled for deletion (this is the Chancellor's term) involve people who will be absorbed back into their schools in some other capacities or who have already quit the district and gone elsewhere. There are no cuts slated for the district office—with the possible exception of one computer programmer.

The salaries for many of the positions set for elimination come out of the district's community services tax. This permissive tax, which is computed to be about three cents for the

Transit Unit Supports Airport Subway Plan

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The 5-member San Francisco Airport Access Project Board of Control last week unanimously backed a subway plan to route rapid transit through the airport but with some reservations.

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Kitzgerald and Daly City Councilman Frank Pacelli, both directors of the SFAAP, said money was the key question.

Fitzgerald said he could not make a firm commitment on behalf of the people of San Mateo County until studies had been concluded on an overall transit scheme between Daly City and Menlo Park.

A $300,000 study is under way on further extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System from the airport south to Menlo Park.

Until a complete financial picture can be offered to taxpayers, Fitzgerald said he would not commit the county to the initial Daly City-Airport extension.

It was, however, agreed by all five SFAAP directors that any BART extension south would be routed through the airport via subway.

Fitzgerald told his fellow directors, "the people of San Mateo County are telling me they won't pay the costs of transit (that would serve only the airport)."

Pacelli expressed concern over a bill introduced in the State Legislature two weeks ago by Senator John A. Nejedly which would curtail any construction and also studies of BART projects outside the three original districts.

Nejedly's bill passed the senate 27-4 and is now in the Assembly for action.

Bill Lanthrop, a member of the consultant's team, in presenting the SFAAP report, noted that avenues for funding the system have not been completely explored.

He indicated that up to two-thirds federal funding may be available, thus lowering local costs considerably.

Costs have been projected at from $193 million (feeder scheme) to $251.5 million (subway).

This figure does not include insurance, interest and inflation.

Director William McDonnell said it was vital to the overall system at the airport that action be taken immediately to insure any extension of BART route through the facility.

A subway station at the airport during the current phase of construction would cost about $1 million.

This cost would increase to some $24 million after the new hub terminal building is completed, McDonnell said.

Another fear brought up by Pacelli during the meeting in the administration offices at International Airport was the possibility rapid transit in the county may be studied to death.

Other SFAAP directors agreed that a career could be made out of planning transit systems to the airport, delaying actual construction of transportation needed to handle air passengers.

A Cemetery Strike Looms

Last minute negotiations were under way today to head off a general strike of Cemetery Workers and Greens Attendants Union Local 265 called for 8 a.m. tomorrow.

All 235 members of the union voted unanimously last Friday to strike San Mateo County's 11 cemeteries — mostly in Colma — and the Alta Mesa Memorial Park in Palo Alto.

A spokesman for a major North County mortuary predicted the strike, if it comes off, will hit hardest mourners of deceased loved ones.

It will also cause monumental snarls at mortuaries throughout the Bay Area, the spokesman said.

The last major strike was some nine years ago and lasted slightly over a month. A backup of remains almost overtaxed holding facilities at every Peninsula mortuary.

Most mortuaries, such as Daly City's Lasswell Mortuary, have facilities designed to "hold" remains almost indefinitely. But these are limited in size.

New Police Plan Backed in Pacifica

The Pacifica Personnel Commission has endorsed Police Chief Mel Nelson's request to place patrol units and manpower on a four-day week of 10-hour days.

The commission also supported Nelson's "Nymatic process" report system request.

Although the question was raised as to whether the Commission had jurisdiction over these matters, Commissioner Aubrey Lumley explained that they related to public safety and the safety of personnel.

The "10-Plan" would put all patrol officers and patrol supervisors on a 10 hour day, four days a week and result in placement of eight men on duty during the peak times of need, Nelson said.

An additional $50,000 would have to be added to the proposed $669,952 1971-72 budget for the hiring of three more officers, purchase of three vehicles and creation of an additional sergeant position.

The Chief told Commissioners that Capt. Otto Saltenberger has completed a study on a "call-in" report writing system. This would require the purchase of nymatic process equipment at a cost of $4,000. Combined with the proposal for an apprentice type program where potential police officers would learn the trade while handling routine reports on bike thefts and insurance reports this could hopefully reduce some of the overtime costs incurred in report writing.

Officers currently type or handwrite their reports sometimes immediately after an incident, other times at the end of their shift on overtime if they are needed on the road and unable to complete a report before the shift's end.

Recall Challenge Fails

Vote Weight Unequal, Attorneys Claim

By BOB PETERSON

Another approach is planned in efforts change the provisions of the state elections code as it pertains to recall.

A petition urging the State Supreme Court to hear a case, based on San Bruno's recent recall election, was referred to the State District Court of Appeals, which rejected the petition.

Presiding Justice J. Rattigan of the First Appelate District Court of Appeals last Thursday ruled that the petitioners had not shown sufficient grounds for seeking original relief in Appelate Court.

Ted Long, former San Bruno Councilman who was recalled and insitgaged the challenge to the law, said a meeting with his attorneys is scheduled for today in preparation for filing a lawsuit in Superior Court.

Long said the suit basically will be a repeat of the issue listed in the petition; that the election did not give votes equal weight between those being recalled and the challengers.

Attorneys Pano Stephens and Robert Ashford, assisted by Attorney Peter J. Donnici, professor of constitutional law at thge University of San Francisco, filed the petition on behalf of the No Recall Committee and the recalled councilmen, Long and Dick Griffith.

Long and Griffith were ousted after a recall campaign developed over the hiring of Christopher Menkin as City Manager. Councilman (then mayor) Neil Christal, who supplied the third vote in the hiring of Menkin, survived the recall.

Tony Governale replaced Long and Margaret Kozkowski took Griffith's seat on the council. The petition argues that these new council members were elected by significantly fewer votes than the votes the recalled councilmen received.

Governale received 2,938 votes in replacing Long, who received 4,702 votes or 47.7 per cent of the vote cast. Kozkowski won her post with 2,057 votes while Griffith received 4,834 votes, or 48.7 per cent of the votes cast.

Taking Long as an example, he had 5,149 votes to recall him and 4,702 votes to keep him in office, a total of 9,851 votes. The total of all votes for all other candidates was 5,788. Subtracting this figure from the 9,851 total votes cast gives 4,063.

The petition declares this 4,063 figure is not consistent with the 4,702 votes Long received. The petition says that these approximately 700 votes were cast to keep Long in office and those casting these votes then turned around and voted for an alternative candidate should Long be recalled.

On the ballot, voters were given two questions; should the councilman be recalled, and if he is, who should replace him.

Long said that under this procedure he is denied his constitutional right to be a candidate. He said he should have an opportunity to place his name on the ballot with his challengers, and had he been able to do so he would have clearly won the seat back.

"Those who were elected clearly were not the choice of the people," said Long.

San Bruno Week

Posy Parade, Art Show

Thousands of children will march in the 30th San Bruno Optimist Posy Parade this Sunday at 1 p.m.

All girls and boys entering the parade will be awarded a participating badge and tickets, entitling him to a hot dog, soft drink, and ice cream at San Bruno City Park. There will be prizes in seven divisions. Flowers must predominate and this year's theme is that of a circus. The divisions range from children pulling wagons, carts, riding bicycles, tricycles, autos, pushing doll or baby carriages, riding or walking live pets to entries by children's organizations, such as dancing classes, groups and clubs.

The parade will start at 1 p.m. from the intersection of San Mateo and Kains Avenues in San Bruno, proceed down San Mateo Avenue to El Camino Real, then up to San Bruno City Park for the awarding of prizes and receiving of refreshments.

The Posy Parade was started over 30 years ago by the San Bruno Optimists Club to celebrate the coming of spring with spring flowers and children playing outdoors. Each year children from the neighboring communities participate in the parade.

San Bruno Posy Parade Chairman Harry Costa said, "Over two thousand children have applied to march in the parade."

"Late comers are accepted," he added. "We should have quite an event with the marching bands, Conquistador marching trumpets, dancing whirlaway clowns, and thousands of children decorated with flowers, riding their bikes, wagons, and with their cats and dogs. Everyone is invited. Only children under 15 can march, and the rest can watch the Peninsula's most colorful parade."

An outdoor art exhibit, the Sidewalk Sales and personal appearances by baseball players and clowns will also be featured at the 30th annual Posy Parade.

The sale opens today and will run through Saturday.

Community organizations will have stands and booths along

Bail Reduced

Bombing Suspect Held to Answer

Trial of brilliant Skyline College student George Patterson, accused of the firebombing of a San Bruno newspaper, was ordered for Superior Court by Municipal Judge Jose de Larios on Friday.

Bail on Patterson was reduced by Judge de Larios from $50,000 to $20,000.

A plea by Patterson's defense attorney Aram Saverian to reduce the bail to $10,000 was denied and the accused remained in custody.

Patterson, who has an outstanding academic record at Skyline College and recently qualifiedfo r a third scholarship, is accused of tossing a firebomb on the roof of the San Bruno Herald building shortly after midnight May 17, 1971.

He is also charged with possession and cultivation of marijuana along with roommate Byron Lee McDonald, 22.

Both men appeared in court for a joint preliminary hearing into the charges Friday.

Patterson's father, mother and grandfather sat silently in the South San Francisco courtroom as assistant District Attorney Edward Thirkel built his case against the 20-year-old first offender.

The hearing dealt mainly with incidents related to the fire at the newspaper building and events leading to the arrest of Patterson and McDonald.

San Bruno detective sergeant Hugh Fraser told the court he and plainclothes officer Richard Reed went to an apartment at 240 San Benito Avenue, San Bruno, the day following the firebombing seeking Patterson.

At the apartment they encountered McDonald. Inside an open closet a planter box with four growing marijuana plants was spotted, Fraser said.

McDonald's defense attorney, James M. Cvengros, objected to the testimony of Fraser and attempted to have it rejected on the grounds of illegal search and seizure.

Judge de Larios, after retiring to his chambers to study the issue, denied Cvengros' motion

Wall, Windows Blown Out

Two Injured in South S.F. Explosion

An explosion at the Fuller-O'Brien Paint Company in South San Francisco blew out windows and a wall in a paint mixing building injuring two men on Friday.

Fire Chief John Marchi said the force of the 2 p.m. explosion was "so great it actually extinguished the fire."

An electric spark from a faulty machine was blamed for the explosion in the third floor paint mixing department of the huge complex of buildings at 450 Grand Avenue.

One hundred fifty other employees in the building escaped serious injury.

"If other equipment had become involved in the explosion there is little doubt damage would have run into millions of dollars and lives would have been lost," Marchi said.

Employee Pat Suri, 33, of 328 Delrosa Drive, San Mateo, was working in the area of the explosion and received second and third degree burns.

A spokesman at Mary's Help Hospital reported Suri's condition as satisfactory that morning.

Truck driver Don Dillard, 36, of San Pablo, was within minutes of completing his job of unloading material outside the building when the explosion shook the industrial area.

He received multiple concussions and was taken to Brookside Hospital in Richmond after emergency first-aid treatment at the scene.

Chief Marchi estimated damage to the building and contents at $10,000.

Walgreens Opens Store and Restaurant at Tanforan

An 8,000 square foot Walgreens drug store and 168-seat restaurant opened Monday at 139 Tanforan Park in the new Tanforan Shopping Center, San Bruno.

Grand opening ceremonies will begin today and include a four-day grandp-openng sale.

The new store features extensive lines of drugs, cosmetics and miscellaneous merchandise, according to store manager Thomas E. Keene.

"Our store designers and merchandising experts researched and planned extensively to provide shoppers with the maximum in pleasant, interesting shopping," he said.

"We included things like kitchenware, lawn mowers, pet needs and cameras to appeal to the shopper who just doesn't have the time or desire to spend half his day going from store to store," Keene said.

A cosmetic department, called the "Beauty Center" features more than 5,000 cosmetics to make it one of the most extensive in the area, he said. It is staffed by experienced beauty consultants.

A specialties department features Panasonic and Realtone radios, tape decks, and Realtone's "Sound Design" line of Stereo multiplex units, Kodak and Polaroid camera lines, Remington and Brothers manual and electric typewriters, Caltype adding machines and watches by Timex, Waltham, Gruen and Helbos.

Other departments include sections for tobacco products, barbecue equipment, small appliances, and lawn and garden care equipment.

Keene said he considers the prescription department the most important part of the store. "With a stock of nearly 6,000 pharmaceuticals, our pharmacists can fill virtually every prescription," he said.

The new Walgreens has two full-time pharmacists.

The Walgreen Company is filling prescriptions at a rate of about 25 million a year. Company officials say the chain's pharmacists have filled about 270 million precriptions since it was founded in Chicago in 1901.

Keene said he expects a big prescription business because of the "unique" services his store offers.

"We keep a family record for all customers so that every time someone has a prescription filled we can see if he is taking any other medication that might conflict with it," he said.

It's also good for income tax purposes, since it is a complete record of medicine purchased during the year, he added.

The adjacent restaurant will offer breakfast, lunch and dinner for shoppers on a night out.

Strike at Cemeteries

Arrangements have been made to inter those remains which suffer severe damage, such as accident victims.

Such remains are almost impossible to properly embalm and must be interred quickly.

Cremation can also be accomplished without delay through agreement with East Bay crematoriums, it was learned.

The Cemetery Workers' and Greens Attendants' Union Local 265 last night voted unanimously to reaffirm their call for a strike at 8 a.m., Thursday.

Nearly all of the 235 members were present at Santo Christo Hall, South San Francisco.

"I see no indiction that there will be an early settlement, but I hope I'm wrong," Maurice Fitzgerald, secretary of the union, said today.

No meetings are scheduled, he said. Negotiations have been proceeding since February 1. The contract ran out February 28.

"We are looking for about $40 a day in wages, a straight work week of Monday through Friday, and time-and-a-half pay for Saturdays and Sundays," Fitzgerald said. "We are also looking for a dental program and an increase in our present medical insurance program as well as improvement in pension benefits."

Present pension benefits give 20 cents an hour credit to each worker, with retirement after 25 years possible at $250 a month, he said.

"We would like to increase this at least another 15 cents an hour to bring it to about $350 a month after 25 years."

Workers can retire at 50. Workers retiring at 65 with ten year's service get $85 a month.

The union is seeking wider medical coverage. Maximum payments by the plan for some surgery, for example, fail to cover the full surgical cost, he said.

On the current single salary schedule each cemetery worker regardless of seniority, gets $34.20 a day.

and allowed the evidence to stand.

McDonald has a prior record of convictions on narcotics charges. He is not being tried for any part in the firebombing.

Patterson is being charged with the firebombing of the Herald, possession and cultivation of marijuana and attempted arson.

The latter charge concerned two half-gallon wine jugs containing fuses and an inflammable liquid found at the rear entrance of the Bank of America building in San Bruno by two custodians on the morning of May 3.

Officer George W. Sachtleben, an ex-marine trained in incendiary devices now with the San Bruno police department, testified he had examined both the unexploded devices and the fragments of the "Molotov cocktail" thrown at the Herald.

Sachtleben described how the bank bombs were made and whyt hey failed to ignite.

He said two half-gallon wine jugs were filled with gasoline and cloth wicks stuffed in the tops. Several wooden matches were then taped around a lighted cigarette and secured to the jug.

When the cigarette burned down it ignited the matches, which in turn set off the gasoline-soaked wick.

In the case of the BOA bombs, however, the bottles unexpectedly tilted and the gasoline extinguished the cigarette.

A juvenile accused of driving the getaway car in the Herald bombing remains in custody at Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center.

Police arrested Darrell L. Bennight, 17, of 2320 Princeton Drive, San Bruno, immediately following the incident as he attempted to drive away from the scene.

Bennight was originally charged with the bombing, but police later learned from the youth of Patterson's role in the episode.

In a seven page volunteer statement, Patterson said he was solely responsible for the act.

Authorities said a hearing on Bennight's case is scheduled for June 10 starting at 2 p.m.

Cap Parents' Forum Meeting

The Cap Parents' Forum, a newly-formed, open-ended P-TA group, will meet at 7 p.m., Thursday, in the Capuchino High School's little theatre.

A new scheduling format that has been worked out jointly by the staff and administrators is to be discussed.

Principal Ernie Hickson will explain the proposal.

DEBRA COLOMBANA will be valedictorian and Michael Peters salutatorian for the Westmoor High School graduating class, Principal Clay Kollmann announced this week.

Reward Offered in Fraser Case

Several Jefferson Union School District teachers have offered a $300 reward for the capture and conviction of the unknown persons they say attacked dismissed Oceana High teacher Alex Fraser last December.

Joe McGrath, Al Pucci, Marge Reandeau and Jim McKenzie are listed in a news release as member of a Fraser Defense Committee.

Fraser was dismissed by the JUHSD Board of Trustees in January. He had been arrested near his home on a disorderly conduct charge.

McGrath said Fraser had been exonerated on the charge, but that the district is continuing its dismissal action.

He said Fraser had been attacked December 19 and that the group of teachers is offering the reward to prove a "clear connection between the disorderly conduct trial and the district's civil case."

"The people who attacked Fraser are still wandering around free," McGrath said, but Alex has lost his reputation, his savings and his position as a result of that attack and the recalcitrance of the Jefferson trustees."

He added, "We can't understand why the trustees are persisting to attempt to fire Fraser without reasons."

Fraser described his attackers as male Caucasians, in their early 20's or early 30's, McKenzie said.

The district attorney's office does not consider the criminal and civil actions related, a JUHSD spokesman said yesterday.

The school district is using a letter to trustees from Assistant District Attorney Jerry Coleman to explain the situation.

Coleman wrote that the district attorney's office had renewed the transcript of Fraser's disorderly conduct trial and had not found reason to change its viewpoint.

Sources at district school offices in Daly City said Coleman had indicated prior to Fraser's criminal trial that regardless of that trial's outcome it had no bearing on the civil action.

The civil complaint, it is claimed, is based on a different set of circumstances.

The charges brought by the school district allege "immoral conduct" an "evident unfitness for service."

S.S.F. Man Is Burned

A 24-year-old South San Francisco man was burned Thursday in an explosion apparently caused when gasoline fumes were ignited by a water heater pilot light.

Robert Luke Hardeman of 204 Lomitas was in his garage, getting ready to leave on a weekend trip, a South San Francisco Fire Department spokesman said.

Damage was estimated by firemen at $10,000 to the structure and $4,500 to contents.

Destroyed in the blaze were Hardeman's boat, an outboard motor, and a 1957 model car.

Firemen said the fire burned a hole in the floor of a bedroom above the garage, causing some flame damage to furnishings and smoke damage throughout.

Fire officials said a column of black smoke from the Buri Buri region blaze could be seen as far away as Railroad and Spruce Avenues.

Hardeman's family had no difficulty getting out of the residence, firemen said.

Hardeman was admitted to Peninsula hospital, where he has burns over 35 per cent of his body.

coming fiscal year in the latest budget proposal, finances community education, college-community relations and other community programs.

There has been talk that, if considerable savings are effected in this community services area and if that tax can be lowered somewhat. But will it be lowered? There is a persistent report that there are some district officials who want to use any funds saved to help purchase a new building at Skyline College in San Bruno, the newest and fastest-growing school in the district.

There is a need to come to a funding decision on that facility in a hurry because of a complicated set of requirements from the federal government. The district has considered selling its property in downtown San Mateo (currently being leased by the Navy) but there is a time element preventing such a decision in the Navy lease.

Thus, because of Skyline's admittedly pressing needs, taxpayers may not realize any substantial savings in the operation of the total district even though the Chancellor, indeed, has made some effort to cut costs.

The budget itself, totalling close to $19.5 million, is reportedly in some difficulty as well.

Funding requests from the three schools have increased by a total of almost $1.6 million in the preliminary budget submitted to the board Wednesday. Fasanaro has stated that the district needs another $750,000 to make the budget fiscally responsible. He is particularly concerned about the budget's small reserve of $728,475.

To Westpoint

Crestmoor High School has its first West Point candidate in its eight-year history.

Charles Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Harris of 161 Fernwood Drive, San Bruno, has been notified of his appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York.

He was sponsored for the honor by Representative Paul N. McCloskey of the 17th Congressional District, San Mateo.

Along with about $500,000 to handle potential inflation, Fasanaro is seeking another $271,525 for that reserve fund.

Where it will come from has not yet been determined. And, to compound the problem, faculty salaries (about 48 per cent of the total package) have not been publicly discussed either.

If that group of increasingly outspoken faculty members decides to press any unusual or tough salary demands at this late date (the budget is due for adoption in just a few weeks) it could spell even more difficulty.

The faculty has been aroused in recent weeks by the Chancellor's proposal to define weekly contact hours for each school and by increasing evidence that any autonomy the three campuses might have had in the past is being eroded away by the centralization of functions in the district offices.

Included in the question of autonomy is whether or not the district will or will not formulate a policy of involuntary transfer of instructors to help fill gaps in analagous departments at other district schools.

Mixed Views on Park

Preliminary plans for developing San Bruno Mountain, which call for two-thirds of the land mass to be left as open space and provide for three parks totaling 138 acres, received a mixed reaction from Regional Planning Committee officials Thursday.

Some members of the RPC Executive Committee indicated by their questions and comments that they looked upon the concept with favor, while others indicated that they will continue to press for a large regional park in the choicest area of the mountain.

Four officials of the Crocker Land Company, owner of the 3,150-acre property, presented the preliminary plans to the RPC group at a dinner meeting last night at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo. The RPC is a coordinating and planning body consisting of city council and planning commission representatives of San Mateo County and its 19 cities.

RPC has established a priority list of 16 park, beach and open space areas for public acquisition and has proposed a $40 million bond issue to pay for them. At the top of the list is acquisition of the 315-acre saddle area atop San Bruno Mountain for a regional park.

Crocker plans as shown to the executive committee last night call for 2,150 acres to be left for parks, schools and open space preserve. The parks include a 68-acre regional park on the edge of the saddle area, a 40-acre community park and a 30-acre overlook park.

RPC Chairman Robert Tonneson, a San Bruno planning commissioner, noted that the Crocker plans are a long way from being final.

"But I think the general feeling of RPC," he added, "is that we will stand behind our Parks and Open Space program, which has been approved by the cities and the county.

"That doesn't mean that we have an unfavorable reaction to the developer's plan."

Tonneson said RPC is still pushing for special election, to be held this year if possible, on the $40 million bond proposal.

Michael L. Belangie, 1970 RPC chairman, a leader in development of the program and bond proposal, said he feels the Crocker concept is good.

"It doesn't compare favorably with what the Parks and Open Space Committee would like to have, but I am inclined to look on it favorably," Belangie said.

The Crocker officials agreed to present their plans to the general membership of RPC at a meeting to be scheduled. They have been meeting with as many public and private groups as possible in order to get a wide reaction before starting to refine development plans.

County Eyes Flood, Slide Insurance

A flood and landslide insurance program for the unincorporated area of San Mateo County is being considered by the Board of Supervisors.

Jan Warshius of the State Department of Water Resources said property owners could qualify for federally subsidized insurance if the county enacts flood zone regulations by the end of this year.

Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald said the supervisors are enthusiastic about the program. The board asked staff officials to work up a definite proposal for submission next week.

Warshius said the basic premium rate is 40 cents per $100 of assessed valuation up to a maximum of $17,500 for single-family dwellings and $30,000 for apartment houses and small businesses.

The special zoning regulations would restrict construction in flood-prone areas.

Warshius said the county's 19 cities would have to take separate action if their residents are to qualify for the insurance coverage. South San Francisco is the first city in San Mateo County to take steps to get into the program. A total of 15 counties and 66 other cities in California have done the same, Warshius told the board.

Subway Transit Link for Airport Supported

Consultants undertaking a $500,000 study for extension of rapid transit to San Francisco Airport have recommended that a subway system be built into the main terminal.

The consultants, Parsons, Brinckerhoff - Tudor - Bechtel; Wilbur Smith, and Kirker-Chapman Associates, in their report to the San Francisco Airport Access Project Board of Control, said today that a subway system would be the most feasible.

Although the cost of a subway link into the new terminal hub would be about $59 million more than other methods, service from the rapid transit main line would offset the added costs, the report noted.

Other methods studied by the consultants were shuttle service, and aerial and ground level feeder lines into the airport complex. All were rejected in favor of the subway.

The engineers urged that steps be taken during the first phases of construction on the new airport structure to provide for a subway system at a later date.

It was pointed out by the consultants that if airport plans are modified now to facilitate a subway transit system it would save millions of dollars at a later date.

The SFAAP Board of Control consists of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and San Mateo and San Francisco County representatives.

It was reported that any combination of these three agencies would be capable of financing the project.

It was assumed the agency would receive federal aid for the project.

Other areas of funding might include a bond issue.

Needed funds from such a move might find San Mateo County levying six cents per $100 of assessed valuation on taxpayers to pay for the bond, or, if San Francisco undertook the project alone, it would cost that city's taxpayers five cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The report also pointed out that if motorists using the Bay Bridge, San Mateo-Hayward Bridge and Dumbarton Bridge contributed two cents each from tolls subway costs would be paid.

A subway system would encourage patrons to use rapid transit to San Francisco Airport because it would cut down on baggage problems, traveling time and eliminate the need for changing trains at San Bruno, according to the report.

Today's air passengers are interested in one thing, the report concluded, "How quickly can I get to my plane?"

Bigger Budget for Police Is Sought

Last year's Pacifica police department budget reflected a total cost per officer of $12,013 and a cost to each citizen of $17.60, Chief Mel Nelson told the city council in a budget presentation this week.

The chief has asked for a budget of $669,952, an increase of $8,000 over last year's.

Nelson said there was an average of 1,192 calls for service per officer and 2,111 situations encountered by the officers themselves.

He said the average response time in an emergency call is four minutes and in a non-emergency situation eight minutes.

Although the proposed budget shows a staff of 46, Nelson said there are actually 41.5 employes.

The chief said 133 hours' overtime were accumulated during the first 26 days of May this year.

Sandoval Accused Of Killing Woman

Jaime Sandoval, who was called a mystery man in the death of a Millbrae housewife in Puerto Rico in 1960, on Friday was identified in a San Francisco Superior Court as actually having killed her.

Sandoval, 40, was found guilty last week of a double murder in San Francisco, in which the bodies of a man and a woman were dumped over a cliff at Devil's Slide in San Mateo County.

But yesterday a 69-year-old dowager, Mrs. Marie Aloha Buys, of San Francisco, testified during the penalty phase of the trial that Sandoval had told her about the Millbrae woman's death a decade ago.

"But I thought you can't bring the dead back and, for once in my life, I'll keep my mouth closed," she said of her reaction to Sandoval's statement.

Mrs. Buys said she had decided to tell the story after reading about his conviction for the double murder last week. The bullet-riddled bodies of Edelmiro Huertes, 63, and Miss Carmen Acenzio, 36, were found at Devil's Slide May 31 and June 1, 1970. Sandoval, who had been sharing a San Francisco home with the two victims, was arrested shortly after on suspicion of murder.

Sandoval was questioned in 1960 after the disappearance of Mrs. Virginia Douglas of Millbrae, who had gone with him to his native Puerto Rico to investigate a large inheritance Sandoval had said he would share with her and her husband, Donald.

He told authorities then she had fallen over a cliff while walking. Mrs. Buys told the court yesterday Sandoval had told her he had held her head under water at a beach and later sank the body in a shark-infested area.

Her husband was found dead at the family home ten days later, a suicide. He left a note charging Sandoval had bilked him of $32,000 and said he doubted his wife's death was an accident.

The next year Sandoval was arrested on a morals charge, accused of sexually molesting the Douglas' two pre-teen sons.

Mrs. Buys bailed him out of jail. Sandoval, a male nurse by trade, had nursed Mrs. Buys' father during his last illness. She testified she later spent considerable money on Sandoval, including buying him expensive cars. She said she once found him "as cute as a bug's ear."

She readily admitted, however, she was assisting the prosecution. Defense Atty. John Nash asked if her real reason for appearingwa sn't "to ask the jury to take his life . . ."

"Yes," she replied.

Sandoval was convicted on the morals charge and served time at San Quentin Prison. He moved in with Huertas after his release. Huertas was president of a local Puerto Rican political action group.

Sandoval was accused of borrowing a .22-caliber rifle to kill the two victims with after learning he was to be evicted from the home.

The trial will resume at 10 a.m. Tuesday with the defense presenting its case. Nash spent one night in jail this week on a contempt of court charge for making unfavorable comments on court rulings.

Bar Patrons Are Robbed

Two men, one carrying a shotgun, robbed a South San Francisco bar of $2,600 in cash Thursday afternoon.

Police said the States Tavern, 200 Grand Avenue, was robbed at about 3:30 p.m. by one man carrying a shotgun and the other brandishing a revolver. Both were described as being in their thirties, standing close to six feet and weighing approximately 160 pounds.

According to police, they entered the bar and ordered two bartenders from behind the bar. A dozen patrons were herded into a restroom. The bartenders were then ordered to clean out the cash registers.

D.C. Cyclist Is Injured

A 24-year-old Daly City motorcyclist was found lying unconscious by the roadside about 6 a.m. May 26 by South San Francisco police.

Terrance Lynn Pope, of 291 Glenwood Avenue, was reported in serious condition on that day by hospital authorities who said he is semi-conscious in the intensive care unit.

Officers Dennis Sullivan and Gary Bannucchi during routine patrol traveled the unimproved Junipero Serra section near Avalon Drive when they found Pope.

Port Authority Need Detailed

The Bay Area is in dire need of a Port Authority, Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission (BCDC) said Wednesday.

Speaking to members of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Bodovitz said he felt that this agency probably wouldn't materialize unless citizen pressure forces it to do so.

Bodovitz said he felt that there was a need to make every effort toward waste water reclamation.

The remarks came after direct questioning by chamber members who heard Bodovitz outline the makeup and purpose of BCDC.

Arthur (Buzz) Haskins, north county contractor and landfill specialist, told Bodovitz that he appreciated the efforts and needs of BCDC but didn't like the way BCDC asserted its authority. "You are there to oversee, not to dictate," said Haskins.

Haskins said he had some property he wants to sell for recreational purposes but is being held up from doing so, apparently because of BCDC.

"You should stimulate growth instead of stopping it," said Haskins.

Bodovitz explained that BCDC encourages new recreational opportunities such as shoreline parks, marinas, fishing piers and beaches. However, filling of the bay should be allowed only where there is no alternative available in meeting these recreational needs.

"The problem is that each individual says his little bit of filling won't hurt anyone," said Bodovitz. "It will when all the individual requests are added together."

There is now a test case in San Mateo county involving West Bay Community Associates, which may answer the question as to who owns tide lands, the individual or the state (representing all the people).

Bodovitz said it isn't clear if private ownership of shoreline is legal. And it isn't clear, if it is legal, whether private owners have unlimited rights to fill.

"In many areas where it is not clear who owns what, the state lands commission has an owner-lease agreement where the land has been sold subject to public trust," said Bodovitz.

Commissioners Reappointed

Three of San Bruno's planning commissioners have been reappointed, one for only a two-year period, however.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton reappointed Commissioners Girvin Whitney and Robert Tonesen to four year terms.

Commissioner James Hensel Jr. was re-appointed for only two years, Hamilton said, because he already has served two terms, although not consecutive.

Hamilton had praise for the dedication of all the commissioners.

Skyline College

Placement Tests Offered Saturday

High school graduates and persons from San Mateo County interested in enrolling at Skyline College, San Bruno, for the fall 1971 semester are urged to take the placement test, Saturday at 8 a.m.

The test, the last one for this term, will be given in Bldg. I, room 131 (choral room) on the college's campus at 3300 College Drive.

APPLICATIONS for admissions, class schedules, and the college catalog for persons interested in attending Skyline College during the fall 1971 semester are available at the college's admission office.

North San Mateo County residents and high school graduates are urged to pick up these materials prior to June 15.

SKYLINE'S 1971 summer session schedules, for both day and evening classes, now available for San Mateo County residents and high school graduates. More than 91 courses and programs are featured in this year's offerings. Persons interested can pick up the schedules in local libraries or at the college.

THE ASSOCIATED Student Body and leading civic and business firms are the major areas in which the 1971 SC scholarship awards were issued to the students of the college.

The ASB gave the following students scholastic honors: Jack Martinez, business; Ralph Hopper, English; Lubov Bromma, fine arts; William Maloney, life science; Martha Barker, physical science; Jamie Aravelo, physical education; and Steve Crociani, social science.

Other scholarship awards went to John Byrne, from an anonymous donor; George W. Beebe and Kin Tai Lo, two awards from the Atkinson Foundation; Pat Ward and Kumar Ashok, Faculty Wives; Barda Thorgaard, National Secretaries Association.

Local donors included Michal Lindsey, Nick's Rockaway Beach; Thum Tritasavit, Pacifica Lioness Club; Thomas Lewis, San Bruno Rotary Club; Richard Franz, San Mateo County Retired Teachers Association; John Bartolome, 17th District PTA; Jim Hawker, Soroptimist Club of Millbrae-San Bruno; Jeanne Arch, 17th District PTA; Sherie Bernhardt and Stephen Brich, San Bruno Lions Club; and Lori Eisenberg, CSEA-Chapter 33.

THE FALL 1971 term will mark the beginning of the nursery school program at Skyline. The intent is to prepare capable pre-school assistants who will be able to qualify as nursery school aides in public and private child care centers and nursery schools for the handicapped.

Two programs are being offered next semester in this field. One program is aimed at students who desire an Associate-in-Arts degree with a major in preschool education.

The second program consists of approximately 24 units and is directed at those students who wish to assist in nursery school for a limited amount of time. This program does not offer an AA degree, but does provide a certificate which enables the bearer to hold the position of nursery school aide.

"Which program you would elect to take would depend upon your long range values and goals," Mrs. Patricia Erickson, home economics teacher at Skyline College, commented. She will be teaching some of the classes involved in the course.

There are many job opportunities in the area of nursery school aides and its related fields, not only for women, but men, Mrs. Erickson stressed.

"It's good for men's family life education. This course is for all students, since it is both practical as well as applicable because we all live in families," she noted.

SKYLINE COLLEGE'S BUSINESS department is making it possible for students to work towards an Associate in Arts degree with a specialized major or a shorter certificate program to qualify for employment in a specific field.

According to the program's initiator, Mrs. Bernice Lawry, a business instructor, the business skills which are utilized for a job are accented with a background in general education courses to make a future promotion possible.

The following courses are offered in the business field: an AA degree with a major in secretarial, general clerical, touch shorthand secretarial, accounting and finance, general business management, marketing, merchandising, and sales management. Courses included in the shorter certificate programs are secretarial, clerk typist, and touch shorthand secretarial. The certificates in the above-mentioned courses may be awarded to students who complete the required courses in the certificate programs with or without an AA degree.

Starting next fall semester a beginning touch shorthand course will be held daily from 12:10 to 1 p.m. as a five-unit course opened to all students. The touch shorthand course, offered only at SC in the San Mateo Junior College District, will involve students typing the sounds of words, not the entire word. A student takes the dictation on a Stenograph shorthand machine, like the machines the stenographer uses in the court rooms.

Phone Cable Severed in N. County

Workers at the site of the new Daly City rapid transit station cut through a main telephone cable May 25 disrupting service to four cities in the North Peninsula area.

Affected by the accident were phone patrons in Daly City, Colma, Pacifica and the Mission district of San Francisco.

In all, some 4,800 voice circuits were put out of order for several hours.

A "voice circuit is the line that carries messages between any two points.

An additional 900 patrons in the downtown area of San Francisco were also affected.

Repair of the cable was hampered by a spring that flooded the ditch in which crews were attempting to work.

Calls were rerouted over emergency circuits on a priority basis until the cable could be repaired, a spokesman said.

San Mateo JC Budget Short $750,000

The San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees was warned Wednesday that its preliminary 1971-72 budget is about $750,000 short of being fiscally responsible.

District Business Manager Matteo Fasanaro said the $19.5 million budget represented a major paring job for the district.

"We have a very real problem here," Fasanaro told the board members at their regular meeting which, this time, was held at Canada College, Redwood City.

He said the budget does not include an extra $270,000 necessary to keep the district's reserve at about five per cent of the total (in this case, he noted, that figure would be about $1 million).

In addition, Fasanaro added, this budget does not contain any provisions for costs escalation which would require an additional $500,000.

Furthermore, the budget makes no provision for any salary increases for faculty members. Only normal salary step increases are provided for. One district official said that if salary increases were included in the package "it would only aggravate the problem."

Salary negotiations between the faculty and the district are expected to take place within the next several weeks. No particular delays are expected in coming to a quick agreement, however.

Fasanaro explained that the budget does not take into consideration the fact that District Chancellor Clifford Erickson has proposed a set of administrative cuts which total $544,000.

The proposed budget is based on the premise that, barring a major reappraisal of property in San Mateo County (which might bring the district more money through assessments later on), the district will use only seven cents of the 11 cents approved in the March 2 tax election.

If the county does come up with a considerable reappraisal of property in the coming weeks, the board has indicated that it would rather use less of that 11-cent figure.

As of now, Fasanaro explained that he and his staff feel it is better to be pessimistic about any windfall of funds from the county. A five per cent figure has been calculated to represent the expected increase in assessed valuation, he said.

As for the individual colleges themselves, departments at the College of San Mateo have indicated they want $745,900 more money than last year to fund and operate their programs.

At Canada, the increase is $307,800. At Skyline, the increase is $519,000.

The board plans to begin working on the budget in public session tonight at the College of San Mateo.

THE MARQUEE

Villain's assistants in terror pictures traditionally have been mentally or deformed brutes. Always open to new gimmicks, American International Pictures has cast a tall, raven-haired British actress, Virginia North, as his "ghoul fiend."

Costumed in high fashion originals and playing violin solo accompaniments to his depredations, Miss North would seem to have a choice role, especially playing opposite the venerable Vincent Price. But lo, she doesn't speak a line. They do allow her one scream . . . when she's disposed of in a vat of acid.

The film "The Abominable Dr. Phibes" is set to open in the Bay Area on July 7. It is Price's 100th film, his 22nd assignment for A.I.P. but not his last. He's contracted through January, 1973 for three more.

"He is such a gentleman to work with," said Virginia. "And so very witty. There is one scene between him, Terry-Thomas and Hugh Griffith that they all adlibbed. It was so funny (it was supposed to be serious) that I couldn't hold a straight face.

"Mr. Price is American but he has a European personality. He's highly respected there for his culture, as a gourmet and as an art collector. He's always cracking jokes and isn't in the least snobbish."

The young actress lives in London but until the age of 16, lived in Washington, D.C. Her father, a retired Army Air Force colonel, lives in Riverside.

"I suppose I could have pursued my career in America but I always heard that Los Angeles and Hollywood were cattle markets when it came to actresses. Besides I made a pretty good living as a model before I went into films."

The film which also features Joseph Cotton in the role of a doctor, was shot in London with an English cast. Besides appearing with Yul Brynner in "The Long Duel" and "Deadlier Than The Male" with Richard Johnson, Miss North was in the recent James Bond movie "On Her Majesty's Secret Service." Her one stage role was on the London stage in "Council of Love," concerning an orgy in fifteenth century Rome.

"I'd just played the Devil's daughter and when the producer of 'Dr. Phibes' said he was looking for someone with spiritual innocence yet sexy, someone recommended me. It's not so bad not having speaking lines. At least I don't wake up mornings with a tight feeling in my stomach."

Graduation is nearing reality for the "Class of 71".

On May 24 the Senior Picnic was held at Adobe Creek Ranch. The seniors, a very joyous group, celebrated with a fun-filled day including games, swimming, food — and a new activity called, "Let's Throw Everyone in the Pool" (which they did). The tired and satisfied class returned that night.

On Wednesday, after a day of rest, "Senior Rowdy Day" was held and many students had squirt guns and a couple cans of shaving cream were used for a purpose out of the ordinary (all was in jest and it was good clean fun).

Friday was the time for the classes of '71 and '72 to unite for the second annual Junior-Senior Ball at the Hyatt House.

The ball was an elegant affair, a first time for many to be dressed in a formal manner.

The memories of the night will linger in the minds of the participants for a very long time.

The Senior Tea and Fashion Show was held Thursday. Senior mothers were served tea and cookies while they watched a fashion show by members of the home economics classes.

Such are the activities in which the "Class of '71" participates as a whole up 'til the night of graduation.

Yet to come: Grad Night at Castle Lanes and a trip to Disneyland.

THE 1971-72 PEP Staff has been elected to serve their terms of one year beginning in September. They are:

J V CHEERLEADERS — Teri Jackson, Jackie Jardin, Rosalie Lindsey, Cynthia Themoleas.

Alternates — Diane Harrison, Leilani Cadelina.

CHEERLEADERS — Cathy Alosso, Sue Chervellera, Karen Jolivette, Theresa Magness, Janice Williams.

Alternates — Elaine Skaar, Toni Kambitz.

PEP GIRLS — Carol Badran, Leticia Castillo, Grace Celestino, Jennifer Flores, Janice Jardin.

Alternates — Renee Rager, Evelyn Healy.

MASCOT — Teresa Torres.

Alternate — Margene Sako.

These girls went through a semi-final test in front of teachers and visiting judges and then were voted upon by the student body.

THE AWARDS ASSEMBLY is for students who have shown outstanding ability or participation and this year it is to be held on the last day of the "Class of 1971" will attend Jeff.

THE FALL STUDENT body officers have been elected.

All races were uncontested except for Rally Commissioner, in which five students competed for the position. Linda Adreneno won.

Other officers: Sue McAllister, student body president; Angela Tomesello, student body vice-president; Michelle Salmon, secretary; and Janet Morris, treasurer.

Class elections will be held Thursday.

ACHIEVER AWARDS — Serramonte High School students were among the students who received Junior Achievement program awards recently. Left to right, they are: Keith Thomas, $1000 scholarship, who was president of his company, Grapetel, and who won sixth place in national Best Salesman Contest; Clive Twyman, $250 scholarship, who was president and vice president of the firm, Lightel; John Fraher, an all-expenses-paid trip to the national convention at the University of Indiana, and a personal plaque; Mary Vassar, Carolyn Manbert and Rush Manbert, other members of Grapetel, the "Company of the Year"; and Louis Martin, Serramonte principal. 'Thanks' Awards Presented Two D.C. Girl Scout Leaders

Mrs. Rodman Barnes and Mrs. Stanley Nowicki received "Thanks" badges from the Daly City Girl Scout Association at the Awards Luncheon at the Serra Bowl.

The pin and certification represent the highest award which can be bestowed on an adult Girl Scout.

The awards were presented by Mrs. Harold Martin, a member of the council's program committee and an outstanding educator. She was introduced by Mrs. William Kennaugh, association chairman, after the invocation by Mrs. Mary Ann Dale.

Five year membership pins were awarded to adult scouts Nobuko Bobertz, Joanne Firpo, Kathy Galvin, Barbara Jackson, Jeanne Kennaugh, Joanne Riskin, Pauline Scaduto, Mary Tschirgi and Carol Klatt.

Ten year pins were presented to Mrs. Dorothy Hendrickson and Mrs. Lois Manbert. To be awarded by Council are 15 year pins to Mrs. Maxine Golden and Mrs. Rosalind Morino.

Decorations were by Junior Troop No. 333 and the cake by Mrs. George Plichcik. The luncheon committee consisted of Mrs Anne Chung, arrangements; Leila Newman, reservations and program; and Louise Courpet, invitations.

Friendship pins were awarded to Al Schwarzbach, the association's SME (fund-raising) chairman, and to Mrs. Marge Calvin for over 25 years' service as a consultant and organizer, as well as camp equipment manager working out of the Peoria Scout House.

Special pins were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. James Hendrickson she, as the "cookie lady" of the association for many years, and to her husband for his willingness in helping his wife distribute millions of boxes of cookies.

The awards to Donna Barnes and Virginia Nowicki, retiring directors of organizers, listed their continuing responsibilities as director of consultants and chairman of the nominating and referral committees, respectively.

Mrs. Barnes was cited as doing an excellent job for four years as director of organizers, a troop leader for about five years, the last two as senior advisor, a consultant for three years, and organizer for five to six years as well as budget chairman for the camp committee and business manager for day camp.

Mrs. Nowicki was applauded as a troop committee chairman for four or five years, an organizer for three or four years and an active member of the nominating and referral committee for 3 years, this year serving as chairman.

Officers in 17th District PT-A Will Meet on June 7

All P-TA unit presidents and officers and chairmen of San Mateo County's Seventeenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, have been urged to attend the June 7 meeting, from 9:30 until 11 a.m. at the CTA Building, 1705 Murchison Drive, Burlingame.

The definition of quorum as it applies to those who must be present in order for business to be conducted at a Seventeenth District general meeting will be discussed.

The definition now is that a represntative must be present from at least 50 associations out of the 160 plus who claim membership in the P-TA district.

No person may represent more than one unit but any person present who holds a valid membership card in any associated unit may be its representative, whether or not he has been officially appointed.

To make the change, involves changing the bylaws.

Cap Alumni Group Seeks Nick, Others

THE POST'S Family Forum

In an effort to find the missing 130 classmates of the 1961 Capuchino High School graduating class, the Alumni Committee has launched a "Nick Pavloff — Where Are You?" campaign.

Nick and his missing associates won't want to miss out on the 10-year reunion being held June 26 at the Hilton Inn, so if any 1961 Capuchino graduates have not yet been contacted by mail or phone by the Alumni Committee, they should call or write immediately.

The Committee can be reached at P.O. Box 33, San Bruno, or telephone inquiries can be directed to Doreen (Owen) Pelton, Pat (Parker) Brinkerhoff or Dorlane (Neary) Thrasher.

Should Nick Pavloff be found soon, the Committee plans a "Ingo Barusachs — Please Come Home" campaign.

Should March winds or April showers present themselves in June, the sale will move indoors to the spacious Recreation Hall.

Lenci-DiBari Nuptials

The marriage of Vickie A. Lenci and Robert J. DiBari recently took place at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in San Francisco.

The newlyweds, who honeymooned in Acapulco, are the respective children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lenci of Pacifica and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiBari of Oakland.

A peau de soie gown trimmed with lace, pearls and crystal drops was worn by the bride when she recited her vows. Crepe costumes in shades of lavender and purple were worn by the attendants.

Sharon Coco attended the bride as matron of honor and secondary attendants were Sherry Lenci, Francine Fardella, Jill Gasowski, Sharon Gossman, Pam Caserza, Gerri Wuelfing and Kathy Calkin. Karen De Silva and Wendy Silvas were the junior bridesmaids and Karen Wuelfing was the flower girl.

Best man for the benedict was Joseph Coco and ushers included Ray Lenci, Mark Wuelfing, Johnny Starelli, Charles DiBari, Joey DiBari, Ray Chirani and Dave Rohr. Jimmy DiBari was the ring bearer.

The Fern Court in San Francisco was the locale for the reception which followed.

The bride is an alumna of Terra Nova High School and the bridegroom was graduated from Fremont High School and Cal State at Hayward. The couple will live in Pacifica.

Installation by Guild

Mrs. Louis Caserza will be installed as the president of the Holy Angels Women's Guild during rites to be conducted this evening in the sanctuary of the parish church.

Mrs. Caserza and her executive board will be vested with their new duties during a mass which will begin at 7:30 p.m., according to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman for the guild.

Guild members who will be serving as officers for the insuring months include Mrs. Russ Gomez, first vice president; Mrs. John Bignoli, second vice president; Mrs. John Fitzgerald, treasurer; Mrs. James McCarthy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lorraine Price, recording secretary and Mrs. Dan Regan, membership chairman.

Following the formal ceremony the guild will temporary adjourn for a move to the parish hall where it will reconvene for a brief business meeting to be conducted by Mrs. Caserza and the evening will conclude with refreshments.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of our first warm days, the members of the Fifty Plus club of Pacifica will board buses for a jaunt to the big trees this weekend.

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the club, has arranged for the trip which will wind through the Sequoias and Kings Canyon this Saturday and Sunday.

The buses will leave early Saturday morning and a luncheon stop is slated for Fresno. Cost of the tour will be $24 and if you have questions about the outing call Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg immediately.

Mrs. Funderburg is collecting deposits for the Canada and Alaska tour on the club calendar for August and she would like to have all 38 billets filled prior to July 6. If you are considering taking advantage of the remarkably low tour rate and spending part of our foggy summer season in the northland call Mrs. Funderburg for reservations or details about the trip.

THE REGULAR JUNE day time meeting of the Fifty Club will be held Tuesday at 10 o'clock in the Pacifica library, Palmetto at Hilton. Guests are always welcome and no advance reservations are necessary if you would like to attend.

FORMER WESTLAKERS Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rogers, now of Concord, have added their names to the list of persons who will help observe the tenth anniversary of the Lakeside Presbyterian Church Nursery School.

Former students, their families, former directors and members of the faculty, past and present, will be honored at a Family Night dinner to be held in the social hall of the church on June 18 at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. John Madrosen of Daly City is the director of the school. Mrs. Rogers is a former faculty member. Other north Peninsula residents who have served on the staff of the school include Mrs. Lester Candee, Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. Carol Lawton.

SPECIAL HONORS were paid to the teen-age girls who assist with the volunteer tasks at Mary's Help Hospital, according to Mrs. Shelly Mangini, publicity chairman for the hospital's volunteer guild.

A reception was held and the girls and their families attended award rites for all volunteers who have served more than 100 hours.

The corp of youthful workers continues to grow rapidly and more than 25 new names were added to the roster of members during the past few weeks, Mrs. Mangini reports.

To make the P-TA picture complete, Mrs. Rosekind introduced a student, Lori Busch, representing "11," and a teacher, David Nigel, representing "12."

Mrs. Busch paid tribute to Mrs. Rosekind, and presented her with the past-president's pin.

Mrs. Busch introduced her new committee chairmen.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

Three guest speakers spoke to Terra Nova's advanced journalism class last week.

The distinguished trio: Geoff Link, editor of San Francisco magazine; Hal Silverman, editor of California magazine, and Sam Goldman, award-winning journalism instructor at Skyline College.

Goldman spoke about Skyline's journalism program, but the two magazine editors gave Tiger Tales staffers a critical analysis of the school magazine.

Link's criticism was highly complimentary, and he said aside from being a well-rounded, informative publication, Tiger Tales was "subtly subversive." He especially liked, he said, the creative writing pages, and some of the more controversial feature articles and editorial.

TIGER TALES will come out early next week and will include the exclusive senior section and popularity polls, and a special 6-page satire magazine.

The stories featured in the satire magazine include, "Confessions of a TN Drug Abuser," "Interview With a Wish-Was y College Liberal," "Kissing on Campus," "Farewell from the lowest grad" and an array of gossip, fashion and advice columns.

Wandering Questionman Dennis Chantry will also ask the controversial question "Do You Like Asparagus?"

STUDENT BODY ELECTIONS for next year's Executive Board were held, and the winning students are: George Yaron, president; Lee Shackleford, vice president; Denise Crouch, secretary; Pat Conolly, treasurer; Karen Kirby, comm. of clubs; Shannon Jaixen, commissioner of rallies; Sylvia Dennis, Commissioner of Publicity; Jim Gonzalez, commissioner of athletics, Mark Patterson, commissioner of safety and control.

The two representatives for the Pacifica Youth Advisory Commission next year will be Tim Kennedy and Karen Roberts.

There were contests only in four offices.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Today seems like a good day to do some baking. Possibly a cake and some cookies, does that sound good to you? This cake recipe was featured in Sugar and Spice a few years ago and is so good that it really deserves an encore.

It's called a Breeze Cake and the name tells you a lot about it. It's light as a breeze, a breeze to make and you stir up quite a breeze with your mixer when you make it.

This cake is made without any fat. This type of cake depends largely upon the air beaten into the eggs for leavening. You will note that you beat the yolks and water for 3 minutes, add the sugar gradually, beating as you add and then beat for 3 minutes longer. The egg whites are beaten separately and folded in after the flour is added.

Use an ungreased pan for baking a sponge or angel cake. If the pan is greased the batter can't cling to the sides of the pan as it bakes and won't reach it's full height. Also this type of cake is cooled upside down and the pan must be ungreased so the cake will cling to the sides.

BREEZE CAKE

3 egg yolks
three-fourths cup cold water
1¼ cups sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla or almond extract
3 egg whites

Add the three-fourths cup water to the three egg yolks. Beat at medium speed in electric mixer for 3 minutes. Add the one and one-fourth cups sugar gradually, beating as you add, then beat 3 minutes longer.

Sift together the two cups sifted cake flour and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Fold flour into egg and sugar mixture with a spoon. Beat the three egg whites until stiff. Fold beaten whites into cake and add the teaspoon flavoring.

Bake in ungreased tubepan in 375-degree oven for about one hour. Knowing the temperamental ways of ovens I checked mine at 45 minutes, it took about 50 minutes in my oven.

Remove from oven and invert pan for about an hour.

This net recipe is for a soft raisin spice cookie that keeps very well. Unless you have a lot of cookie eaters in the house, in which case, no cookie keeps well.

RAISIN SPICE DROPS

1 cup raisins
½ cup shortening, soft
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon soda
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
2 cups rolled oats, quick or old-fashioned, uncooked

Pour boiling water over the cup raisins to cover them. Cover and let stand 10 minutes.

Beat the half cup shortening with the one cup sugar until creamy. Add the two eggs; beat until fluffy.

Drain the raisins, reserving one-half cup liquid. Dissolve the half teaspoon soda in this liquid.

Sift together the one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon and half teaspoon allspice. Add to creamed mixture alternately with liquid; blend well. Stir in the raisins and two cups rolled oats.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated oven (350-degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield 4 to 5 dozen depending on size of cookies.

CORRECTION—In last week's column the Apple Crunch recipe listed the amount of nutmeg as 2 teaspoons. Wrong. The amount called for is . . . one-fourth teaspoon.

Carnival at WHS; Horse Show Set

"Carnival time," will come to Westmoor High School on June 4-6 as the student body embarks on its major fund raising campaign of the year.

Butler Amusements will occupy the school's parking lot with rides ranging from ferris wheels to merry-go-rounds.

Tickets will be sold five rides for a $1 when purchased in advance from Westmoor student ticket sellers and three rides for $1 at the carnival itself.

Oceana High School held a similar carnival this year and Westmoor, much in need of money for it's student body account, hopes to receive the support of the community for a simular success, a student officer said.

WESTMOOR'S HORSEMEN'S Association, advised by Mrs. Martha Wright, will hold its second annual all western schooling show Saturday.

Starting promptly at 8:30 a.m. at Peter Bercut Field in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, the event is open to any person interested in showing their horses.

Mrs. Edie Lehman of Forest Knolls will be judge, and Mrs. Martha Wright is to be the manager, Sue Carson, secretary; Carolyn Olivier, ringmaster; Jim Price, announcer; Barbara Frost, photographer; Mrs. Phyllis Colbert, nurse.

Awards will be given.

All entries must be in by today.

LATEST CREATION of the Westmoor High School Drama Department, "Pullman Ear Hiawatha," was presented May 28 at the One Act Play Festival held at Skyline College.

Also presenting plays at the Festival were Jefferson, Terra Nova and Serramonte.

PROJECTORS STOPPED running May 21, at Westmoor High School's Cafeteria, to award a trophy to the winner of the Third Annual Film Festival.

Mike Nicholson received the trophy for his achievement in film making for the past three years. Mike, along with two students from Serramonte, David Bacon and David Long, have been working on films together.

Mike's entries this year were, "A Fish Story," "Unititled," and "We Interrupt This Program to Bring You the Following Message."

IN WHAT WAS THE most unique, if not the largest election at Westmoor High School, students cast their votes for the 1971 fall semester student body officers on four voting machines, used for the first time in this school's history.

However, the drawback to the innovative idea was that the registering for the election caused such a slow pace that many students simply were unable to vote because the process was too slow. Due to this, only 30 per cent of the student body, numbering in the area of 1800 students, cast their ballots.

When the final tabulations had been made, Westmoor had elected eight officers and had ratified the new Constitution.

For the first time in many years, only one person petitioned to run for the office of student body president, Bryan Clark.

Although never having held an office prior to this election, Clark has been active in the school's sports department where he has written the varsity football stories that emanate from Wesmoor's press bureau.

Vice-president will be Maureen Murphy, who is holding her first student body office. She is, a member of the California Scholarship Federation.

Westmoor's new treasurer is Sheryl Riley, one of the most active students in the school. Since transferring to the school last year, Sheryl has been junior class president and treasurer, is one of this year's representatives to Girls State, and is a member of the stage band.

The school's treasurer is Janice Hill who is a member of the school yearbook (Rambler) staff.

Re-elected Commissioner of Clubs was Rob McFadden, who is the photography editor of Westmoor's school paper, Rampage.

Winning in a run-off election, Sharell Korbus was elected Rally Commissioner. Sharell has been most active in school activities and as a past commissioner.

Cubs in Millbrae Presented Badges

Webelos from Den 7 of Millbrae Cub Scout Pack 19 demonstrated their expertise in rope work by teaching various knot tying skills to the other Cubs.

While the Cubs experimented with rope lengths cut to convenient size, Cubmaster Donald Griffin explained to parents the leadership needs the Pack faces with the "graduation" of a number of Webelos parents.

When the Pack meets again in September, there will be a need for a Webelos leader and assistants, an advancement chairman, a newsletter chairman, a publicity chairman and a treasurer.

Parents interested in filling those vacancies were reminded of the Pack Committee meeting to be held at 8 p.m. June 8 at the home of Committee Chairman Bob McGinnis, 200 El Bonito Way.

Earlier in the evening, just preceding Webelos Arrow of Light Ceremony, Ricky Sohl of Den 6 received a Bear badge and a gold arrow.

Ken Sligar, also of Den 6, received a gold arrow to wear beneath his already-earned Bear badge.

Doug Thomison, Den 1, received a Wolf badge and gold and silver arrows.

Zach Griffin and Eric Johnson, both members of Den 9, earned silver arrows. Zach received one for completion of 10 electives; Eric received two for his work on 20 projects.

The boys in Den 9 won the inspection award for the most Cubs in complete and neat uniform, as well as the ribbon for perfect Cub attendance.

Summer Music Signups in SSF

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department will take registration for the eighth season of the Summer Symphony on June 9 and 10 at the the Magnolia Recreation Center, Magnolia and Grand Avenues.

Registration will be allowed during the first two weeks of rehearsals, according to conductor-musical director Robert Bridges.

Rehearsals will be held on the stage of the South San Francisco High School Auditorium.

Registration is open to interested musicians, and traditionally the orchestra has included an equal balance of adults and local students and college students in the area.

The rehearsals will be Tuesday and Friday evening, 7:15 to 9:30 for the band and Wednesday evenings at the same hours for the chamber orchestra.

Beginning dates are during the week of June 15.

Bridges stated that the two organizations will present several concerts during the summer. "The music is supplied to the band through the courtesy of various private libraries and the organization generally has included a repetoire of both old standards and the latest works for band and orchestra," stated Bridges. "additionally, it should be noted that the Summer Symphony has premiered the works or arrangements of local composers during each tf the past seven years."

Further information may be obtained by calling the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department at 588-6200, ext. 50.

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full", no starvation, because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home. For men, too.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. (Not Grapefruit Diet). That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $1.25 ($1.50 for Rush Service), cash is O.K., to: Ski Team Diet, 279 Sheffield Dr., Dept. RC, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93103. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do! ©

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Belmont Holiday Inn Is Former Marriott

The new Holiday Inn in Belmont, which was formerly the Marriott Inn, has recently been remodeled in the restaurant and lounge areas. Terry Beadle, new owner and general manager, renamed the enlarged lounge The Red Fox Lounge, and brought in a band from the Monterey Peninsula, Gemini, to provide the nightly dance sounds, Tuesdays through Saturdays. Another new addition is Don Becker, who was recently appointed Food and Beverage Manager. Becker, hailing from the East, most recently Tennessee, brings over 22 years of food and hotel experience to his new position. Since assuming his new post, Becker has introduced a Sunday Buffet (All you can eat for $2.75), and a Businessmen's–Buffet Luncheon for $2.25, served Mondays through Fridays. The Saxon Platter restaurant is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. . . . Wilfried and Marion Blarer have created a dining atmosphere decidely Swiss in flavor at their Matterhorn European restaurant in Burlingame. From the decor to Chef Wilfried's award-winning cuisine, an evening here is like a trip to the Continent.

Putter's Folk Singer Composer

Gulliver, the young folk singer who entertains every Sunday and Monday nights at The Putter, Burlingame Plaza, writes many of the songs in his repertoire. His own compositions include "Eyes So Green," "Sunshine Returning," "Joyanne" and "I Drove On." This mystic-eyed dreamer sings under the influence of Tim Hardin, Gordon Lightfoot, Glen Campbell and Donovan . . . Jack Lynde, drummer with the Jimmy Vann Band currently marqueed in Hugo's Bistro at Hyatt House Burlingame, has performed with several famous bands. During his career, Jack has appeared with Stan Kenton and his Orchestra, plus stints with several famous jazz ensembles and rock groups . . . The Sinaloa cantina of North Beach is one of the few remaining legitimate night club-restaurant combinations in the city of San Francisco. It is here, under the management of Bill Vroman, that the very best in food, atmosphere, service and entertainment is offered . . . Clancy's talented organist, Margie Brandon, took advantage of the sunny weather and started her organic vegetable garden in her small back yard, which she refers to as the "Lower Forty." Margie is promising everyone a home-grown carrot stick to enjoy with cocktails at the organbar.

Dahl's High-Wire Pantomime

One of Reggie Dahl's many talents is his exciting high-wire pantomime performance in Finocchio's colorful show. The great ballet star Rudolf Nureyev is an idol of Dahl's, who is an outstanding dancer himself. He also swings a song with the best (his favorite number is "How Come You Do Me Like You Do, Do, Do) . . . Oftentimes, diners will drive for numerous miles just to eat at Romano's Italian restaurant, situated in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. In addition to being in a scenic location, Romano's offers superb pizzas and excellent full course Italian dinners. All major attractions for Bay Area diners . . . Among top Sheraton executives enjoying Steak Wellington in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco: John Javitz, International Sales Manager; John Brogan, General Manager; and Petere Van Kleek, of the Sheraton Waikiki. At a nearby table, Steve Holden of Bach Construction Company, the San Francisco-based firm that builds for Sheraton, hosted another diner party.

Before And After-Theater Dining

Ansara's in Redwood City is ideally located for before and after-the-theater dining, since Circle Star Theater is just minutes away. If you have a curtain time to consider, inform your waitress when giving your order. She will serve you efficiently but not hurriedly. The beginning price for a full course dinner is $2.95, and you'll find a friendly and intimate cocktail lounge adjoining the dining room . . . Andy Ardito, handsome general manager of Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn, has to be one of the most congenial restaurant managers on the Peninsula. He's the always-smiling gent who greets you during the evening dinner hours . . . The "2 for the price of 1" Mexican dinner offer at the Papagayo Room, Rockaway Beach, has been so popular that owner Nick Gust has extended the date. His patrons have demanded it — and the agreeable restaurateur is continuing the expiration date of the coupon until July 2 . . . It's fitting that the annual Crab Cooking Championship was recently held at A. Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf. Since 1920, the Sabella name has meant true excellence in dining.

Park Ave. Tours Four Locations

Park Avenue Tours, which has four Bay Area offices, offers a variety of package trips to South Lake Tahoe. You may choose to travel by Greyhound bus or drive up — and stay for one or two nights. The amount of refund depends on the length of stay. . . . Scotty Campbell's, an award-winning restaurant in Redwood City, has long been known for its fine steaks and prime ribs of beef, but you'll also find many other entrees on the selective menu to entice your appetite. A superb way to finish your meal at Scotty Campbell's is with the Maerd Eip, a cheesecake delicacy as pleasant as Mary Lou Francis' smile. . . Foster's, on El Camino Real in Hillsdale, is presenting another money-saving special on a family chicken dinner. The offer (valid from Monday, May 21 through Sunday, June 6) is a bucket of Farm Fried Chicken for only $2.95 (a savings of $1). The bucket includes 14 pieces of chicken, 10 rolls and a pint of gravy. Clip the coupon running on Bright Lights page. You'll not only save one dollar, but you'll be treating your family to a great chicken dinner.

COULD THE SAYING "Give 'em the axe" instead of "You're fired!" have originated in Yuba City? Can the preceding sentence be judged as black humor? Will you all forgive me? I didn't think so.

MEANWHILE BACK IN D.C. (for Daly City) the council is on the verge of declaring sections of Mission Street ready for undergrounding of utility poles and all the eyesores connected to the poles.

There is one exception — San Francisco's trolley buses which swing around the Bank of America building at the top of Mission Street hill on horrid wires strung from rusty (tilted) metal poles.

Of course the City Fathers will fire back that without these pollution-free relics Daly Cityites will not have a way of riding to and from San Francisco. We say: Why not put a time limit on how long those poles will stay? Someday, BART will come and the station is a pleasant, two-block walk down John Daly Drive (a little funny we tossed in).

ANOTHER WORRY centering around the underground district (besides who's gonna pay for it, and how much more can we afford?) was brought up by Bev Dikas of the Mission Street Merchants Association. Businesses along the street, already hit hard by everything from new shopping centers sprouting up around them to the constant tearing up of sections of the road, are hoping this latest move will not disrupt more business — business the merchants are fighting their heads off to keep.

P.S. ON SUBJECT — Councilman Frank Pacelli ventured the project would be "great" for Mission Street and cautioned P.G.&E. to be careful about hindering businesses there.

IT'S NO SECRET that this newspaper packed its small office staff off to bigger quarters in San Bruno, where another building had been purchased a few months ago.

But what remains a secret is the identity of those who are getting their jollies by passing the sour grape juice around that The Post is "deserting" Daly City in favor of greener advertising pastures.

Frankly, between you and I, everyone KNOWS what one will find in a pasture. That's our answer to those who would spread the dreaded "rumormongeritis" among North County residents.

Best way to gauge whether the city has been abandoned is to continue to read this column, which is still being tapped out on the same battered typewriter on the same battered desk by the same devoted, underpaid and overworked (sob) writer. 'Nuf said.

BULLETIN, ALL-POINTS — Wouldn't you know it, a cop won the firemen's tournament held at Franklin Canyon Golf Course last week. Bob (Sandbagger) Blazer walked off with top trophy with a low gross 74—the second top prize he's won in the past three weeks at local meets.

What hurt was the fact it was a FIREMEN'S meet.

Mayor Bud Lycett of D.C., apparently not secure in playing an out-of-city game, was accompanied by three policemen: chief Roland Petrocchi, assistant chief Roy Beecher and captain Dick Sims (the latter still trying to use a golf club instead of a billy club on the balls.)

PETE MARKOVICH, fresh after suffering a heart attack a few months ago, carded a respectable 81.

GREAT WORDS — Dr. Mark F. Ferber speaking to a group of students being honored at an Oakland dinner sponsored by GEMCO: "To try and fail may be heroic. But to fail to try is ignoble." Applause for Dr. Herber, cameras pan to deadbeats walking along Haight street in San Francisco, away from the 450 outstanding youths attending the dinner.

ON THE MEND — Realtor Bill Lagomarsino resting comfortably at Mary's Help Hospital following heart seizure. Brother Ricco claims Bill has an "exclusive" room (No. 600) at MHH.

JUST GOT WORD the other day from a spokesman for State Senator Arlen Gregorio that he is alive and well in Sacramento, doing his thing. Now we know what he's doing, but many of us have forgotten whe he looks like. At a meeting held over lunch one bright day after his successful defeat of Ike Britschgi, the energetic-looking Gregorio told how he would continue to keep contact with all the good people of the North County. Many of the "good people" have forgotten what he looks like, according to Our Sources.

WE'RE HAPPY TO HEAR the city is finally tightening up its leash laws pertaining to dogs and cats. Too many people suffering bites. Too many messes being made by dogs outside their own areas.

And we hope the law slaps those dog owners who let their pets mess up other people's property while they stand by and watch. But AGAIN we ask those in city and county government WHY DOUBLE LICENSE FEES?

We've heard of rising costs, but that's ridiculous If the Humane Shelter needs more money to operate tell the county to turn loose the loot they KEEP from those license fees.

What hurts is this: D.C. now pays $17,600 annually to the county for license fees — NOT FINES, ETC. Double that, and you're talking double, and we don't mean double-talking.

It's obvious the attempt to grab another source of revenue will end up in government coffers instead of at the Humane Shelter where the justification for it is.

And it's equally obvious the Silent Majority of Daly Cityites will once again sit home and let a few people controlling the situation hit them with another dollar bite.

Afterall it IS only another $4 a year. Our question: Where does it all end? We're being dollared to death and few folks give a hoot and even less stand up and protest.

The Post gives its columnists a great deal of latitude, offering its readers the benefit of knowledgeable, varying opinion. Their opinions are not necessarily those of The Post which addresses itself to its readers only through clearly marked editorials.

HARD WORK — Volunteer students from El Camino High School in South San Francisco recently cleaned up the "South San Francisco" sign on San Bruno Mountain overlooking the city.

(Post Photos)

NICE VIEW — After the weed growth had been cleared away, the students gave the sign a new coat of white paint. Project is part of the Chamber of Commerce's beautification campaign. The city is spread out below.

Among the Myths, a Universal Strain

The ancient Navajo Indians believed that this world was the fifth one the creators produced for the home of men. The others were either too small or too dark. One caused men to fight among themselves and with animals and had to be abandoned when men and women grew so angry they divided into to hostile groups.

Sam Chandler

Among the myths of all nations, there is a universal strain: The gods have done their level best to provide the human family with the best possible world for a home. But man has never appreciated the world he has received, thereby causing himself trouble that not even the gods had anticipated.

The Celts of Ancient Europe believed that man listened to a ruthless Goddess who sent men to war so she would have a means of depriving them of two-thirds of their valour.

Under her direction Amazons lured men into the "crow-heaven of battle" where they were beset by recurring furies. But the Amazons never fought.

By the use of magic they provoked the battles that brought terror to man.

The aboriginies of Australia believed that God placed a bond between man and nature and the strongest drive in the Australian was to preserve the ecological features of his country or suffer the consequences.

Perhaps modern man should return to the myths that have been handed down from the dim past and from them learn some things about himself and the ways of the world upon which he lives. The ancient myths relate to creatures that personify the forces of nature. There was a message for man in the thunder that was either the voice of Zeus when he was angry or the report of angry Thor throwing his hammer.

Perhaps from such myths modern man can learn to listen for the voice of a displeased god. Surely there must be many.

Believing that mankind needs to return to the ancient myths, the Hamlyn Company of Great Britain has published a series of books that present the mythology of the world.

In the series are the stories of the Arabs and Hebrews, Syrians, Romans, Mexican Americans, Greeks, Egyptians, Indians, Polynesians, Africans, Chinese, Celtics, Japanese and South Americans.

Each book is written by an authority. Each contains hundreds of pictures. They all have a message for modern man as he toils with his problems.

Questions Yield Some Surprises

Those aggravating, if not prying, questions that Americans were asked in connection with the national nose count of the 1970 census have yielded some surprises for San Mateo County residents.

One such surprise is the percentage of home ownership in the county's larger cities. The percentage of home ownership for the county as a whole is 61.2, considerably higher than the figure for the whole Bay Area which is 54.7 per cent. On rough computation a more graphic ratio emerges — over three out of every five homes in the county is owner occupied.

The leader among the cities for home ownership is one of the county's younger communities. In Pacifica 75 per cent of all the housing units belong to the people who live in them. San Carlos is second with 72.4 per cent and Millbrae is third with 70 per cent.

Lowest home ownership among the incorporated cities is Redwood City where fewer than half of the housing units, 49.3 per cent, are owner occupied, although in unincorporated East Palo Alto the figure is even lower, 42.1 per cent. Roughly half, 50.3 per cent, of Burlingame residents own their own homes and in San Mateo 52.2 per cent.

Also on findings of the census, Pacifica again leads on population per housing unit with 3.6 per cent for each unit. This figure, however, is not excessively high since the percentage for the entire county is 3 per cent and for the nine-county Bay Area the same. Other cities above the county average are South San Francisco at 3.2 per cent, San Bruno at 3.2, and Daly City at 3.1.

Even if home may seem crowded at times, population per housing unit is comparatively low in Burlingame 2.4 per cent, in Menlo Park 2.6, and San Mateo and Redwood City score 2.7. Unincorporated East Palo Alto is under the county average at 2.9 per cent.

Thus it appears that the extra census questions were not just idle curiosity. The information they are supplying is both informative and useful. Across the nation, as well as in San Mateo County, they bring dimensional perspective to the demographic outlines of the United States.

Political Way of Life Could Be Altered

Last week, this column considered John Gardner's non-horse and the growth of Common Cause as a potential third (for fourth) party. Mr. Gardner's movement could profoundly alter not only the next election, but also our political way of life.

Consider first the next election. Common Cause has strength only if the two major parties battle so hard for the conservative vote that a spin-off on the left is possible. Should either party imaginatively seize issues or candidates, even modestly attractive to this group, Common Cause will probably remain what it now is, a publicity vehicle and lobbying organization.

About 19 per cent of the population views itself as independent, 33 per cent Republican, and 48 per cent Democratic. While designators are by no means determinative of the way people vote, these figures tell us that no party has a sure majority even if all its members vote with 100 per cent party loyalty, and that coalitions are needed for any group to go over 50 per cent. As parties proliferate, consensus gathering becomes more difficult. Last time, it was a three-cornered race, including George Wallace's party. This time, we could be looking at four or more.

First, let's consider the candidates. As our precondition for growth of a John Gardner party depended upon a conservative Democratic Party ticket, it is proper to assume Humphrey and Jackson as the Democratic candidates. The result, as we have seen, might be a liberal spin-off to John Gardner and his vehicle. George Wallace seems to be running again, and he is likely to do so only in the deep South. Finally, Richard Nixon will be the nominee of Republicans by acclamation.

The track would be full of horses, but only one of them would be really running, and that one not against the others, but against 50 per cent. Richard Nixon would be in a headlong rush to go over half, and he seems the only one who could do so.

The reasons for this conclusion relate to mobility. George Wallace's neanderthal campaign would doubtless be confined to the neanderthals. At about 10 per cent of the total vote, he stops, and his source of possible electoral votes would be confined to a very few Southern States.

Humphrey-Jackson would have to rely upon union labor and traditional Democratic support. While the Gardner spin-off would take some Republicans (possibly John Lindsay who is already a member of the Policy Council of Common Cause), it would be largely torn from the rib of the Democratic Party. Labor leaders, having fathered the Humphrey ticket, would doubtless enthusiastically support it, but would hold little sway with the independent vote and those who are ecology and anti-war minded.

Gardner would have to run a cause-oriented campaign, seeking strong ideological support of a small segment of the entire electorate. Certainly, it is not reasonable to expect this his newborn foundling would go over the magic 50 per cent figure.

The mobile candidate is Richard Nixon. His mobility extends in three directions, and his options for emphasis would remain open until late in the campaign. His control of the 33 per cent of the population who consider themselves Republican in such an election would be quite good. Nixon can also pick up some labor votes, for while the hardhat effort has met strenuous opposition by labor leaders, with a return to the "old politics" (old in the way it was done in 1966 and 1968), his campaign could go into the homes of suburbia and gain labor votes. With whatever is left of the Southern strategy, plus the possible repeat help of Strom Thurmond, Nixon might even be able to make some small incursion into Wallace strength or at least stop it at about 10 per cent.

But most interestingly, the President would have some ability to take votes away from John Gardner. Included in this year's State of the World, State of the Union, and other messages to Congress, is a great deal of material that will have natural appeal to Common Cause forces. Nixon, in fact, has been a visionary even while fighting with his own party organization about some of his innovations.

Finally, Nixon, as the only one who had a chance to go over 50 per cent, would attract many votes of those concerned about national stability.

Should Mr. Nixon fail to receive a majority of the votes of the Electoral College, the President would be selected by a majority of the States, voting (at a one vote to one State ratio) in the House of Representatives. The House would consider the top three candidates. In this election, the country would teeter on the brink of anarchy, and Hubert Humphrey would be the candidate who had the chance to go over 50 per cent. Congress has a democratic majority, and the voice of organized labor is strong in the House of Representatives. The final possibility, of course, is that Congress never could agree, in which case, our finely developed system of checks and balances and of constitutional government could fail.

So Mr. Gardner should carefully consider the politics of third and fourth parties. Should his coalition make such a move, it could end up disastrously for him. Traditional Democrats could claim that his action elected Richard Nixon.

Chief's Corner

Why Didn't They Arrest Speeder?

I called the police and complained about a car speeding up the street and the driver was not arrested. Why?

POLICE OFFICERS are restricted as to when they can arrest. In the case of a misdemeanor (minor offenses punishable by a county jail sentence or fine at the most) the Penal Code requires that the offense be committed "in the officer's presence." This means he must perceive the violation through one or more of his five senses. If he cannot do this, he cannot arrest anyone.

In the case of a felony violation (major offenses punishable by imprisonment in a state prison) the officer may, upon probable cause, arrest the violator although he did not actually see the offense being committed.

Most traffic violations are either termed infractions or misdemeanors and, as such, do not authorize the officer to make an arrest (which includes the issuance of a traffic citation) unless the offense is committed "in his presence."

Two alternatives, in cases of misdemeanor violations, can be used when the police officer cannot arrest.

The first alternative is that of obtaining all the facts relative to the incident. Establishing the elements of the crime and the individual responsible and forward this information to the District Attorney requesting that a complaint be filed in court. Upon filing this complaint a judge will issue a warrant of arrest for the alleged offense and the responsible will be arrested by the police.

The second alternative is to affect a private persons arrest (Citizen's Arrest). Which allows the person who has the violation committed "in his presence" to make an arrest as would a police officer. The police officer would then take custody of the individual and arrange for his appearance in court, while the private person who made the arrest would assume all liability connected to the arrest.

VACATION TIME AGAIN — To combat burglaries try the following tips:

Notify neighbors to watch home and dates of departure and return.

Close and lock all windows and doors — including the garage.

Cancel all deliveries.

Leave shades or blinds in normal position — not completely closed.

Connect a lamp or two to an automatic timer.

Arrange to have lawn cut.

Have the Post Office hold your mail until you return.

Rent a safety deposit box for storage of all valuables, unless you have a home safe.

Prep Football Playoffs Planned

By CHRIS STAVE

The old argument over which local football teams are really the best may be settled at the end of the 1972 season.

The Central Coast Section Board of Governors, after years of squabbling, has voted to institute sectional football play-offs for all four local regions.

And, anticipating increased revenue from football play-offs and a newly voted three-day basketball tournament, the board is considering hiring a full-time commissioner.

Football had been the only major prep sport in which a league champion had no chance to win a sectional title. Many leagues, including the Mid-Peninsula League, had previously voted down the play-off idea.

It was claimed that play-off scheduling would interfere with the playing of traditional Thanksgiving contests.

Edward Fennelly of San Bruno, the commissioner of the West Catholic Athletic League and a member of the CCS Board, said that traditionalists had blocked the play-off idea for a long time.

"We've tried to vote it in before," he said. "We tried last February, but we hadn't done enough lobbying. It's easy to see what the possibilities of this are, both for the kids and for the section.

"The Santa Clara Valley play-offs have been extremely successful, both from a financial standpoint and a pride standpoint."

The new system would have been instituted at the end of the next season, but the Santa Clara schools wanted one more crack at their own play-off.

It's possible that not all leagues in the CCS will participate the first year —including the MPL.

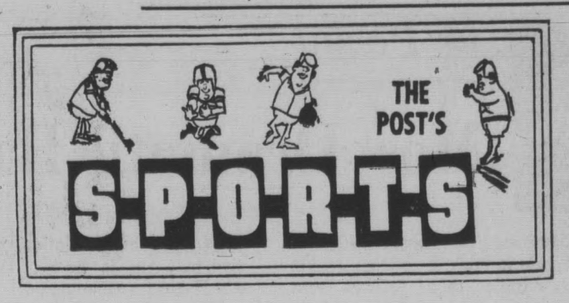
"It's up to the rest of us to show them what a good thing this can be," Fennelly said. "Not only does it give the kids a chance for a sectional championship, but things like this can also give us the wherewithal for a better CCS program.

"After all, the CCS is the second biggest section in the state, and we're operating on a shoestring. Our present commissioner, Gene Arnold, only works at it part-time. We'd like to go full time, with around a $20,000 salary."

The football play-offs would be modeled after those in the Southern Section of the state. The final game will probably be played in Spartan Stadium in San Jose the first year, but if interest warrants the game could be moved to Stanford.

The simultaneous decision to go to a three or four-night basketball tournament had also met strong opposition. The proposal had been voted down four years in a row.

The last two-night tournament at Stanford's Roscoe Maples Pavilion was extremely successful, but the board thought there might be more interest in a three-night tournament involving more teams.



Coach's Indecision Wins Play-off Game for SSF

By JERRY LITTRELL

South San Francisco baseball coach Bob Brian was a case study of concentration last Saturday before his Warriors were to take on Hillsdale in a replay of round one in the Central Coast Section playoffs.

Just 18 hours before he had sent both Pete Enea and Rick Hagstrom against the Knight's Mike Williamson in a record-smashing 0-0, 16-inning tie game. His mound staff was, to say the least, a mite depleted. He had both a righthander, senior Marty DeMerritt, and an untested lefthander, outfielder Dennis Yamamoto, warming up in the bullpen. He couldn't decide which one should pitch against the Knights.

His indecision meant a lot. It propelled the Warriors into tomorrow's round two game against the West Catholic Athletic League champion Bellarmine Bells in the 3:30 p.m. Washington Park game.

Much to the displeasure and chagrin of the small, Hillsdale-partisan crowd at Burlingame High School, he never did make up his mind and Yamamoto and DeMerritt combined for a three-hit, 6-0 blanking of the Knights in a game that was almost as unusual as Friday's frustration. All in all, Hillsdale didn't score a run in the 23-inning playoff affair.

Yamamoto, who hadn't pitched all year, started the game in impressive fashion by striking out leadoff man Dave Hanlon. But suddenly there went Yamamoto to centerfield and in came DeMerritt to pitch to the next two righthanded batters. And so it went all game long ... Yamamoto would pitch to the lefties, DeMerritt would battle the righthanders. Before the game ended, 12 switches between the two pitchers had been made as early-game boos were diminished as the shutout innings went up on the board.

There wasn't any indecision after the game, though, as Brian named Enea to start tomorrow against the Bells.

"Pete threw nearly nine innings Friday, true, but he threw just 88 pitches," Brian noted. "That's not too many at all. Hagstrom threw about the same so we feel they both should be fresh for the Bells.

DeMerritt was awarded the victory by the official scorer based on the fact he did the most impressive job. He faced more batters in the three-hit combination and, although he had pitched but one inning in the past six weeks, not counting an All-Star game cameo, he wasn't very wild. When he was off target the pitches were low, a good spot in which to be wild.

Five of the six runs off starter Chuck Wright were earned. Wright, coming off two two-hitters in league play, allowed just four hits but his wildness cost him dearly. He walked six batters and hit another quartet, most in crucial situations.

Long Game: 16 Innings and a Tie!

By CHRIS STAVE

Hillsdale High School pitcher Mike Williamson has probably never competed harder, or better, or for less result than he did on Friday.

The iron-armed Knight pitched 16 innings of scoreless ball against South San Francisco in the Central Coast Section Region I baseball playoffs at Burlingame's Washington Park.

The only trouble was, South City hurlers Pete Enea and Rick Hagstrom were handling Hillsdale with similar finesse.

The outcome was that the game was replayed from the start today — yesterday's 16 innings of 0-0 ball were called "no-game."

Williamson started out in su-regular-length games, he had slowed somewhat, but was hardly vanquished.

He recorded eight strikeouts in the first four innings, and 14 over-all. By the sixth inning, some of the zip was gone from his fastball. By the ninth, the Warriors had started to get wood on his pitches.

But Williamson was a smart pitcher. He walked no one and used his control to get the Warriors to hit into the gloves of a willing defense. South City got just four hits.

South City almost scored in perb form yesterday at 3: 30 p.m. By 7 p.m., after hurling the equivalent of more than two the fourth. Hank Love reached base on an error. He tore down to second on a passed ball. Brad Dahl followed with a single to short center. Love tried to make it home. The throw to the plate was wide to the first base side, and Knight catcher Ed Kertel

Most Dramatic Bat . . .

Whatever happened to the Black Betsy, the most dramatic bat of them all? Our boyhood hero, Ferris Fain, used one, and when he trudged to the plate in that pennant-winning year of 1946 brandishing his Black Betsy, he was absolutely menacing. And it wasn't just our imagination. Ferris led the Coast League in RBI's and runs scored that year, and probably would have done it with an ordinary bat. But that Black Betsy made him positively awesome. If our memory hasn't become too faded, our second greatest hero, Ted Jennings, also used one. We remember spending all summer trying to find a Black Betsy, but the closest we could find in a hardball bat was a Brown Betsy. We later found a softball Black Betsy, and immediately joined a softball team, just so we could use it.

What kind of a year is it, and what kind of a major league is it, that will allow uniforms like the A's wear and colored gloves, but won't allow Black Betsys? That's right, they're banned in the Biggies.

Kids nowadays don't know what they're missing, not being allowed to swing a Black Betsy. We recently played a softball game against a group of high schoolers, and they had on their side a blue bat. When we asked them if we could use their Blue Betsy, they looked at us like we were senile. But we used it anyway, and hit a wicked pop fly with it. You just can't beat those Blue Betsys, which we prefer to think of as at least obscure hybrids of Black Betsys.

NO MATTER, the Blue Betsy, which got us to thinking about Black Betsys, and then Ferris Fain, and the early post-war Seals, heroes of many of us senile old fools, brought us to what is fast becoming America's favorite pastime — nostalgia. So maybe you would be interested, as we were, in pursuing the roster of the 1946 Seals: Ed Stutz, Neil Sheridan, Oggie Ogrodowski, Don Trower, Fain, Hugh Luby, Francis Rosso, Vince Dimaggio, Frenchy Uhalt, Don White, Sal Taormina, Jennings, Roy Nicely, Joe Hoover, Mel Ivy, Del Young (coach), Cliff Melton, Dino Restelli, Joe Sprinz, Al Lien, Bill Werle, Bones Sanders, Larry Jansen, Frank Seward, Ray Harrell, Jim Tobin, Dale Mathewson, Roy Perry, Lefty O'Doul, trainer Leo Hughes, batboy Charlie Matzen.

That group won 115 games, lost only 68 (.629) took the pennant by four games and swept the Governor's Cup post season series for a record fourth straight time on the way to drawing a then minor league record 670,563 paid attendance. They won the longest game of the year (16 innings), had the longest winning streak (12), won nine of 12 extra inning games, and had a winning margin over every team in the loop.

Team offensive and defensive statistics weren't especially impressive, as they were fourth in team hitting (.256, last in homers (32), sixth in fielding (although they were second in DP's); but they had clutch hitters like Fain and Jennings, so they led the loop in runs scored, and they had great pitching. Jansen had a 30-6 slate, and a near-record 1.57 ERA (record was 1.56). Melton won 17, Harell 13, Werle 12. And throw out those defensive stats, anyway. As usual, they were misleading. Fian was the best fielding first baseman in the league, maybe in baseball, and he finished last in fielding average. French Uhalt was the best center fielder we ever saw until Mays, and Roy Nicely, who was third from last in fielding percentage, is still the best defensive shortstop we've ever seen.

Neil Sheridan finished next-to-law in outfield percentages.

That great season ended on a sour note. Here was Jansen winning all those games, and Fain driving in and scoring all those runs and fielding brilliantly, so Les Scarsella, second place Oakland's first baseman who missed two months of the season with a groin injury and didn't even get enough official times at bat to qualify for the batting title, was voted the league's Most Valuable Player.

For further nostalgia, following is the Oakland 1946 roster: Charley Metro, Brooks Holder, Ralph Buxton, Billy Raimondi, Vic Buccola, Carlos Biggs, Mickey Burnett, Rugger Ardizoia, Frank Shea, Cotton Pippen, Eddie Kearse, Tony Sabol, Damon Hayes, Floyd Speer, Gene earden, Max Marshall, Bill Hart, Ray Hamrick, Hershel Martin, Pete Fox, Wally Westlake, Will Hafey, Bryan Stephens, John Babich, Tom Hafey, Scarsella, and manager Casey Stengel.

THE NEXT YEAR SEALS co-owner Paul Fagan sprung for spring training in Honolulu, the Oaks took over the old Seal spring training site in Boyes Springs, and the Seals never recovered (until their last year as the Seals in 1957, when they won an unheralded and almost forgotten pennant). They finished second to Oakland. Following are the 1947 spring training rosters of the Selas and Oaks, respectively(PITCHERS: Jack Brewer, Bob Joyce, Ray Harrell, Francis Rosso, Bill Werle, Cliff Melton, Al Lien, Frank Seward, Dale Mathewson, Larry Powell, Len Kasparovitch, Bob Chesnes, Bob Jensen, Emmett O'Neill, Manual Vargas, Woody Johnson, Vernon Kohout. INFIELDERS: Bones Sanders, Roy Nicely, Del Young, Don Trower, Ted Jennings, Hugh Luby, Ray Perry, Charles Hansen, Ray Orteig, Diamond D. Cecil, Michael Poppin, Al Jacinto, Frank Gonzales. CATCHERS: Oggie Ogrodowski, Joe Sprinz, Doug Loane, Will Leonard, Mel Ivy, Jack Holt. OUTFIELDERS: Don White, Neil Sheridan, Bernie Uhalt, Sal Taormina, Joe Brovia, Dino Restelli. MANAGER: Lefty O'Doul.

As you can see by the size of the rosters and the training localities, Fagan had a lot more money to pend than did Oakland owner Brick Laws. But money couldn't make up for the losses to the big leagues of Jansen and Fain, the failure of Bob Joyce, back from the Biggies, to duplicate his 1945 feat of 31 wins, the sudden fading of spectacular pinch-hitter Bones Sanders, or the mysterious tropical-like fever which retired young Charley Hansen, the kid who had torn up the Pioneer League and was supposedly destined to make everybody forget Fain. Hansen started out ripping the league apart, left the lineup ill one day, and never again played professional baseball.

Nostalgia.

Sometimes it is painful.

SUDDEN THOUGHTS: We don't mean to seem strange, but we both feel sorry for and am glad of the recent failings of Giant rookie catcher Fran Healy, who as we write this is slumping to a .650 batting average. We feel sorry for Healy, who was batting close to .900 for several weeks, because how many guys can go two-for-four and lost 60-70 points off their batting average? And we're glad he made a few outs, because until he did he was bridging back nightmares we used to have after watching the since-cancelled television program, "The Invaders."

NPL All-Stars

As befits the closeness of the race this year, North Peninsula League coaches met to select the 1971 All-League baseball team last week and could narrow down the selections to 13 unanimous first-team choices.

Three pitchers, two catchers and two first basemen dotted the star selections as NPL champion South San Francisco led the way with four of the nominees. Warrior coach Bob Brian was named Coach of the Year but because of the even voting no Player of the Year was selected.

Second team selections were similarly close as the final tally placed six infielders and six outfielders on the squad. No pitchers or catchers were on the second team.

There was a liberal sprinkling of juniors throughout the list headed by the league's best hitter, Westmoor's Brad Kearns with a .428 average. According to official league stats, Kearns barely edged out Serramonte's Rick Newman for the league batting title.

South City's Pete Enea was the lone senior moundsman selected with his 6-1 record and fine 1.73 ERA. Both Half Moon Bay's Frankie Reyes (7-1, 2.12) and Terra Nova's John Racanelli (4-3, 1.50) will be back for another season.

A Lighted Grid Field for Cap?

By JOHN HORGAN

The first tangible signs that the Mid-Peninsula League may be on its way to top-quality status were brought out Thursday night at the regular meeting of the San Mateo Union High School District's Board of Trustees.

Chuck Kent, athletic director at Crestmoor and a member of a team of concerned principals and coaches from district schools, presented the board with two proposals for upgrading the district's athletic program and he promised that a full slate of proposed improvements would be forthcoming sometime early in 1972.

At Thursday's meeting, Kent asked the board to consider these two items as initial steps in the plan to make the MPL a "first class" athletic circuit for area high school students: Lights for the Capuchino football field and a firm job description for the position of athletic director and a plan for one period of release time for that individual at each of the seven schools in the district.

As to the lights at the Capuchino field (something which people in the northern part of the district have been after for some time), a letter from Capuchino Assistant Principal Gordy Young was read which described the feasibility of the project.

In the letter to the board, Young said a low bid of $18,650 for the construction of lighting facilities has been received from a South San Francisco firm.

"As Capuchino's field is home field for Mills and Crestmoor as well as Capuchino, the community involvement and public relations factor in having a night field in the north part of our district almost speaks for itself."

Young also noted that revenues gained from the lighted field would more than make up for the initial costs and maintenance of the lights.

He further explained that having a second lighted field would take much of the pressure off Burlingame (the other lighted field).

It is envisioned that, with two lighted fields, the district schools might be able to play the majority of their league games at night.

Several board members and District Superintendent Dr. A. Hugh Livingston expressed interest in the Capuchino plan and Dr. Livingston said, "I am convinced there is value in another field with lights, especially in that part of the district."

He pointed out that at least two community groups in the San Bruno-Millbrae area have informally told him that, if the district foresaw severe financial problems in obtaining the lights, they would move in and aid the district with finance drives.

On the question of the position of athletic director — a philosophical and pragmatic question which revolves around the issue of emphasis — Kent told the board members that the job is a time consuming one and that any efforts to improve the tinue to speak in awe of Atlanta rookie Ralph Garr's timing of 3.1 seconds from home to first, as if it's never happened before. But Mickey Mantle, when batting left-handed, was alsom timed at 3.1, and Mickey, 20 pounds heaviers, and a ton stronger, dug in, wasn't half way down to first while still swinging, as Garr often is.

LOCAL NOTE: You can just never stereotype an athlete. Take this young English teacher at Terra Nova High School named Eileen Pitto, who has been described as a wholesome Barbara Parkins, and who athletically looks like she would finish runner-up in a field of one. When she walks down the street, men are always trying to rescue her. If she punched you as hard as she could, she would be charged with assault with a harmless weapon.

But, in just one more of a continuing series of scoops, we have uncovered the most intriguing revelation since our exclusive that Amelia Earhart landed in Howard Hughes' swimming pool.

When this petite, deoure little Chaucer buff was only a freshman at Hillsdale High, she became personally responsible for launching one of the most glittering careers in sports. She played and beat the now-great professional bowler Biloy Hardwick in the first game.he ever rolled! The score was 90-82, and reports were that Hardwick, a proud teen-ager, was as frustrated as Mae West at a Vatican Ecumenical Council. He determined to never again be hustled on the lanes, began practicing hours daily, and you bowling fans know the rest.

As for Eileen, she proved to be an early bloomer. That 90 represented her athletic apex. But for one bright and shining moment, she was tre pin queen of San Mateo County.

had to hurry to make the tag. It was close, but Love was called out.

While Williamson was throttling Warrior hitters, Pete Enea was doing the same to Hillsdale's sluggers, holding them in check beautifully until the ninth, when Denn.s Tripp doubled deep to left-center. Rick Hagstrom came in to get the side out.

Hagstrom stayed in until the end — ultimately, he and Enea pitched the equivalent of at least one full game each.

Hagstrom's rockiest moment came in the bottom of the fourteenth. Dave Hanlon led off for the Knights with a line single to center, and stole second. Scott McWhirter made first on an error, and Tripp beat the following throw to third.

McWhirter stole second. Greg Gorang, who had been four for five to that point, was intentionally walked to load the bases. But Hagstrom got the next batter to line to second baseman Pat Tolentino to end the rally.

With Williamson, Enea and Hagstrom thoroughly pitched-out, only Chuck Wright for Hillsdale and Marty De Merritt for South City were left to pitch today. That means the winning team will be hard put to find a fresh hurler for Tuesday's game against Bellarmine.

The team from Daniel Webster School took top honors. Skyline School, Marchbanks Park and M. Pauline Brown School followed.

A travelling team trophy will reside at the Webster playground until the next playday. The second place team received ribbons while the third and fourth place teams received certificates.

The Playday was held at the Daniel Webster School under the direction of Katherine Bradshaw, recreation supervisor, and Virginia Simon, area leader.

sports program in the district would necessarily mean doing something about defining the athletic director's function.

Kent promised the board members that these recommendations (which the board listened to for information on Thursday for the first time) were the forerunners of a more far-reaching set of changes which he and the other members of the advisory team would present in 1972.

"These suggestions are only preliminary to something broader," he explained. "Right now the Mid-Peninsula League has something less than a first-class program."

Kent and the others have been working since 1969 to do something about that.

Dr. Livingston, after listening to Kent's presentation about defining the role of the athletic director, said there may also be the need for a MPL commissioner soon (he did not say precisely when) because, he said, he has knowledge that the county schools' office may phase out its position of commissioner.

The MPL and other leagues currently pay the county schools' office to use Commissioner Paul Hannig's services for that purpose.

Hannig, contacted Thursday night, said he was not aware of any immediate plans to do away with that function but, he said, "As far as I know there will be a commissioner's office next year. I did hear some talk from the county superintendent but that was quite a while ago. I got the impression that we would continue with the office for another year at least."

Track Meet Series Set by NCTFA

Weekly track meets will be held at the College of San Mateo by the Northern California Track and Field Association from June 19 to August 14.

There would not be a meet July 3.

The field events will start at 11:30 a.m. and the first running event at noon. Flats or ¼-in. spikes are a must, and there will be a 50-cent entrance fee per athlete, according to Meet Director Harry Young. Applica- be obtained at the time of the meets. There will be showers and lockers available, but the club affiliations, if any, of all the competitors.

Contests in the Open and High School Divisions will be:

100, 220, 440, and 880 yards, mile, 120 yards, high hurdles, high, long, and triple jumps, pole vault, shot put, and discus.

In addition, there will be a two-mile event in the high school division,and a three-mile and javelin throw in the open competition.

Awards and ribbons will be presented at the final meet on August 14.

These All-Comers Meets are primarily men's track and field meets. Special events will be considered on occasion provided ample notice is given to the meet director and there are sufficient participants to insure real competition, Young said.

Camino Coach Davis Track Meet Leader

El Camino High School Coach Tom Davis will coordinate the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department's Neighborhood Olympics track meet June 5, at Clifford Field.

The meet will be staffed by South San Francisco Recreation leaders.

Elementary, junior and senior high school boys and girls and teen-agers are eligible.

Sixth graders and under will compete in track and field events from 10 a.m. to noon.

Teen-aged junior and senior high boys and girls will run in the afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m. in most of the standard distances and field events.

Awards will be first, second, and third-place ribbons.

Ninth NPL Title for Rams

The Westmoor Ram varsity golf team for the ninth year captured the NPL gold finals and Ray Pellegrini captured individual honors—tenth consecutive time a Ram has earned the league championship.

Forty-two golfers from seven NPL schools teed off on the Sharp Park layout, the annual site of the finals.

Westmoor's number two man, Kelly O'Neill, held a two stroke advantage over the Ram premier golfers. Pellegrini, 71 to 73. However, Pellegrini charged to the front as his own strong play and O'Neill's balky putter decided the issue.

Ray's total of 143, one under par, tied the existing league mark and ended three previous years of frustration which saw him finish second twice and third once.

Rounding out the top ten finishes were O'Neill, who slipped to a final round 74 and 145 total, for second; two Oceana golfers, freshmen sensation Steve Landi, who fired a brilliant final round 72; and Rich Whitmoor, who earned third and fourth place honors with scores of 150 and 154, respectively.

Westmoor's number four man, Pat O'Neill, with a 156, fifth; Westmoor's Jack Ceccaci, Serramonte's Steve Giannini, and Jefferson's John Peterson, all of whom finished just one stroke in front of three golfers, Jim Spence (W), Dave Lonich (W), and Rich Gibbons (O) who finished at 161.

The Rams captured the team trophy with a 765 total.

The Rams will represent the NPL in the Northern California High School Golf Championship which will be held this year at the professionally tested layout at Sunol, in Alameda. Last year the team scores brought the Ram squad third place. However, Pellegrini captured individual champion honors.

Car Teams Triumph in DC Women's Softball Play

The Women's Slow Pitch Softball League of the Daly City Recreation Division is playing every Sunday afternoon at Westlake Park.

Ed Cordero Chevrolet defeated the Road Runners, 16-3. Ollie Murray and Shirley Sherwin both doubled for Ed Cordero Chevrolet while Linda Perez and Kay Hoover teamed up for a double play in the bottom of the third inning.

The Daly City Toyota Tigers slugged out a 24-3 win over the Pee Wee Fleas. Doreen Daneri slammed three triples and a single in five trips to the plate. Kathy Honrado hit a triple and a double for the Tigers.

A Backup Pitcher Shines

By CHRIS STAVE

May 25 marked the end of the Mid-Peninsula League baseball season, and the Hillsdale High School Knights, who had already clinched the title, cleared the bench.

But the game wasn't entirely anti-climactic for the Knights. They found a commodity that could stand them in good stead during the upcoming Central Coast Section playoffs—a backup pitcher.

The man is Chuck Wright, who came on in his second start of the year and threw his second two-hitter of the year against Crestmoor, winning 3-0.

Wright may be the best prep utility man around; Knight coach Neal Dahlen certainly thinks so.

"He doesn't get much of the credit," Dahlen says. "He's underrated. He's been a tremendous help to us all year."

Wright has pinch-hit 11 times. He went six for 11, including three clutch doubles, and scored five runs.

He has also been successful on the mound, a fact that could become crucial to the Knights in the next two weeks.

The Knights have relied on just one pitcher, Mike Williamson, during the last half of the season. Williamson fastballed his way to a 9-0 record.

Ex-Knight Mills' Coach

Bill Smith, a protege of former Hillsdale coach Homer Zugelder, has been named head basketball coach at Mills.

Smith, 26, will take over this fall for Frank Firpo who had coached the Mid-Peninsula League club for the past four seasons.

Firpo is the second Mills head coach to be moved out of his position in the past month.

Recycling of Batteries Set

Ecology Action of Pacifica will start recycling mercury batteries, the small batteries which power hearing aids, camera light meters and watches.

Like most things that get thrown away, these batteries end up in the water somewhere, a spokesman said. The mercury in the batteries starts up the ecological cycle. Bacteria changes it to dangerous methyl mercury, which ends up in seafood. The earth is also contaminated by the dumping of this substance.

Millbrae Girl in Record Throw

Special to The Post

GARDEN GROVE — In this land of Disneyland and orange groves, girl shotputters are somewhat of a rarity.

However, a Millbrae girl outdueled Mickey Mouse for top honors in Southern California last week.

Lynn Graham, competing for the Millbrae Lion's Track Club, recorded the second best shotput in American women's track history in the Strawberry Festival Women's National Invitational Track Meet.

Miss Graham's toss of 53-1 was one of the highlights of the meet. The effort put her second on the all-time list behind Earlene Brown, who put the shot 54-9 in 1960.

Two girls from Keene, N.H. took the running honors at the meet.

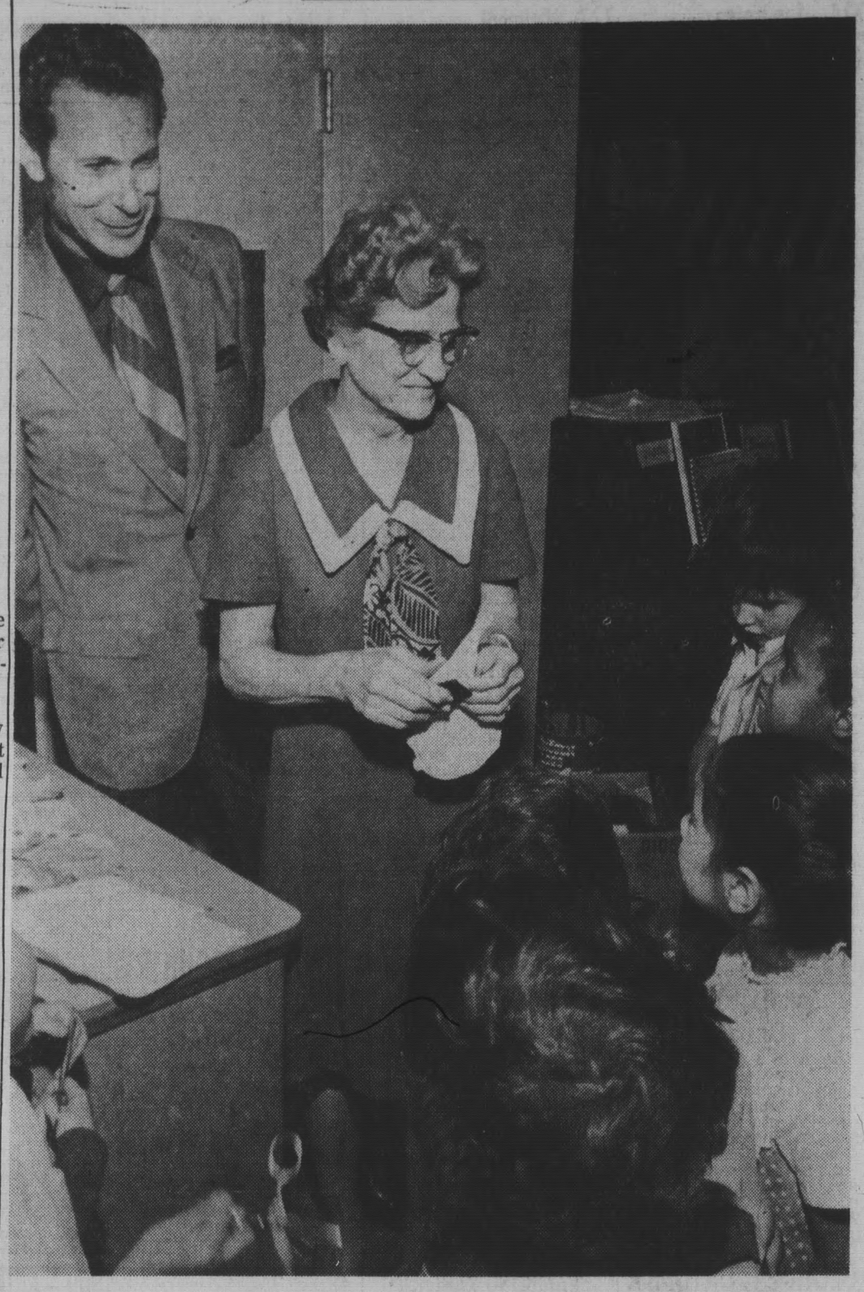
Francis Johnson and Kathy Lawson, the New Hampshire speedsters, ran off with the track honors.

Mrs. Johnson, a slightly built 24-year-old blonde, won the mile in an easy 4.50.5, almost eight seconds faster than her previous best of 4:58.2.

Miss Lawson, a 17-year-old senior at Keene High School, scored two stunning upsets by winning the 100 over the Ferguson sisters, Mabel and Willie-mae, in 9.7 — her lifetime best — and the 220 over Pan-American Games champion Ester Stroy, Washington, D.C., in 23.9.

In other good performances, American record holder Patty Johnson, San Clemente, won the 100 meter hurdles in 13.9 and the 200 meter hurdles in 28.0.

Doris Brown, Seattle, captured the 880 in 2:07.8, Miss Stroy took the 440 in 54.6, and Leora Lee Roberts, Fresno, won the long jump with a leap of 19-4½.



PRINCIPAL GEORGE GRANT and several General Pershing Elementary School students in Daly City shift their attention to retiring kindergarten teacher, Gladys Benofsky, who will be honored at an informal tea from 7:30-9 p.m., today at the school, 631 Hanover Street. Mrs. Benofsky's teaching career has spanned 29 years — 21 of them in the Jefferson Elementary School District. All but two of the years in Daly City have been at General Pershing. She has received the Pershing P-TA's Honorary Service Award. (Post Photo)

S.S.F. Seniors Attend Employment Seminar

Over 800 appointments were scheduled for graduating seniors who are seeking employment after graduation from El Camino and South San Francisco High Schools. Prospective employees interviewed these young people at the two campuses recently. Because of the increased interest in this annual Recruitment Day, it was necessary to hold this event on two days this year instead of the usual one day of recruting.

Applicants qualified for many and varied positions, including stenographers, clerk-typists, general clerical, file clerk, accounting-clerk, and mail clerk in the business field. Vocational industrial students included apprenticeship programs, garage assistants, service station attendants, utility technicians, band messengers, sales positions, mail and stock control clerks, and machine operators. Prospective employers then went to the El Camino campus where luncheon was served. Appointments followed

The companies from San Francisco and the Peninsula, included government, insurance, finance, utility, printing, manufacturing, service.

Community Briefs

Lutheran Confirmation

The First Lutheran Church, South San Francisco, will confirm 10 young people at the 11 a.m. Sunday service.

Those who have completed the two year study program are Barbara Miller, Cheryl Silvas, Debbie Sivell, Andy Cortez, Kim Goff, Maureen Cahill, Malinda Curry, Kathleen Curry, Paul Klipfel and Richard Cornejo.

As their gift to the church, the class is presenting a set of violet Altar Paraments.

A reception will be held in the transcept of the church immediately following the service. The Junior Confirmation class will be hosting the event.

THE SAN MATEO COUNTY Better Business Bureau has announced its new public numbers: 347-1251, 347-1252 and 347-1253, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Brownie Troops 721 and 1738, Junior Troops 1769 and 2662 and Cadette Troop 3068 will participate in a Girl Scout bridging ceremony and a father-daughter cake bake at Skyline School, South San Francisco, June 9, at 7 p.m.

THE DANIEL Webster P-TA will meet at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, with Mrs. A. Burke presiding for the first time.

The glee club and the orchestra will present the school's annual Spring Concert. A cake sale is planned.

JEFFERSON Elementary School District officials said this week they plan to release for publication next week in the Post the busing schedules for summer school, which will begin June 21.

THE DALY CITY Advisory Housing Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the Council chambers at City Hall.

Hitchhiker Is Robbed

A Millbrae youth, Tony Corey, was robbed of $27 cash and a new $57 jacket by two youths who gave him a ride when he was hitchhiking on El Camino Real near Hillsdale last week, police report.

MARK BENSON of the Westmoor High School, Daly City, recently received a $100 scholarship from the Modern Music Masters, WHS chapter.

'Four-Way Test' Banner for DC Rotarians

The "Four-Way Test of things we think, say or do" was reemphasized by the Daly City Rotary Club at a recent Wednesday luncheon meeting.

Four-Way Test chairman Herbert Tweedie and Rotary president Jack Erickson displayed the new banner.

The banner is emblazoned with the "Four-Way Test: Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build goodwill and better friendship? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

Four Rotarians spoke concerning the meaning and application of these four principles. They were Paul Hupf, Ted Wimberly, Mel Lichtman and Stan Cohen.

It was pointed out that if these principles of truth, justice, friendliness and helpfulness were increasingly applied in business and personal life, the result would be greater success, progress and mutual appreciation.

memo from matt reis

We honestly feel it's to your advantage to talk with us before you buy a new car.

Just the other day a couple came in and said, "we're so glad we came to you." They'd shopped around a bit and then came in and chatted with one of our salesmen who outlined a deal on a new Mercury. Nothing final . . . just a chat. Two days later they came back and drove home in their new Mercury. This is nothing new to us. We know that in order to stay ahead of the competition we must give the best possible deal. We do this. And we back it with the assurance that the buyer is dealing with an old, established firm whose reputation is made every day. Call it bending over backward . . . call it service . . . it all adds up to caring about you. And we do. By the way, this week we're featuring the All New '71 MONTEGO for just $98 down and $87.93 per month and the '71 COMET for just $98 down and $76.17 per month and the '71 COUGAR for just $98 down and $97 per month.
